American Lutherans Plan Reformation Day Rally

PICTURED above are more than 60 members of The American Lutheran Church as they gathered Friday evening to practice as a Rally Choir for the Reformation Rally sponsored by their congregations. Directing their choir at the Oct. 29th Rally in Cole Camp will be The Rev. Vernon Rodie of Stover.

"Our Great Heritage and Present Responsibilities," is the theme of the Reformation Day Rally being held by the American Lutheran Churches in this area. Pastor A. S. Berg, who will be the principle speaker, has selected this as his theme for the Reformation Rally to be held in Cole Camp Oct. 29 in the new High School auditorium. The rally begins at 2 o'clock.

Rev. Berg is a faculty member of the Lutheran Bible Institute of Minneapolis and is a graduate of Augsburg Academy, Augsburg College and Augsburg Theological Seminary.

Before coming to the Lutheran Bible Institute, Rev. Berg served parishes in Chicago, Ill.; Brooklyn, N.Y.; Minneapolis, Minn., and Tacoma, Wash. He also has served on various committees and boards such as Ebenezer Home for the Aged and the Martha and Mary Children's Home, Poulson, Wash.; corporations of Oak Grove Seminary, Fargo, N.D.; Augsburg Seminary, Minneapolis; and Deaconess Hospital, Minneapolis.

Rev. Berg has also been president of the Puget Sound District of the Lutheran Free Church. He taught three years in the Department of Religion at Oak Grove Seminary, Fargo, N.D. Besides his teaching assignments at the school he also serves as director of Bible teaching missions.

A 75 voice choir, composed of members of the participating churches, will perform during the service.

Over 1,000 Lutherans and their friends are expected to attend.

Each church group has been assigned to a particular area of Sedalia and the youths will travel in pairs with both members of the team wearing the orange and black tag with the Trick or Treat for UNICEF symbol on it. UNICEF, or the United Nations Children's Fund, is a part of the United Nations organization, and the funds collected in the United States are administered by the United States Committee for UNICEF.

The money is used to aid mothers and children in combating disease and malnutrition and suffering in the under-developed countries of the world.

There will be 18 churches of Sedalia represented through their young people's organizations making this Halloween Trick or Treat.

Residents have been urged to remember the cause for which the groups will be asking for a contribution either Sunday evening or Tuesday evening when they ring the door-bells. "The Trick is to Treat All the World's Children."

The church will be host to the Harmony Association Stewardship Conference Saturday from 10 a.m. to 3 p.m. with lunch served by the ladies of the church at noon. This conference will be under the direction of the superintendent of missions, Sherman Bridgeman.

Personnel from out side the county to appear on the program include Dr. W. H. Allison, secretary of stewardship and church finance, Missouri Baptist Convention; J. W. There Are Built-In Defects

Some Britons are declaring over and over that we Americans are "obsessed" with anti-communism.

Most who say this do not mean we are seeing things under the bed, or applying the Communist label to persons and policies which do not deserve it. That is another matter.

What these Britons seem to mean, judging from the detail of their argument which we manage to hear in this country, is that we see too much evil in the Soviet and Chinese brand of communism.

To put their case most sharply, many Britons just do not believe that the Moscow-Peking variety of totalitarianism is in the same league with Hitler's Nazism.

They start with the idea that communism is "perverted" socialism. Since they often favor socialism, they conclude that there is a large kernel of good in communism.

They concede that the "perversions" — repression, brutality, threats of war — must be resisted. But they argue that one day they may pass, leaving only the "good" of socialism.

By contrast, they found Hitler's totalitarianism a naked grab for power, having no justification other than its own inner compulsions. What can we say to this?

We can argue, with some plausibility, that what these Britons think of as communism's perversions may well be permanent, rather than passing.

In the Soviet Union, communism has been in the saddle more than 40 years. Some aspects of its terror have indeed been eased since Stalin's death. But the men who succeeded him engineered the butchery of Hungary and the cruel walling-in of East Berlin, facts, among others, so aptly pointed out by state department speakers at the Foreign Affairs Briefing Conference in Kansas City on Thursday.

Can anyone honestly believe Khrushchev and his associates, who perpetrated these deeds and were earlier linked with Stalin's terror, are on the road to the "softness" of socialism?

Years ago Arthur Koestler, an author who knows from the inside the meaning of communism, gave an answer.

In his book, "Darkness at Noon," an aging Russian has ruthlessly jailed for clinging to humanitarian, socialistic notions. He puts his hand on the arm of his young, rigid-minded interrogator, a complete totalitarian, and starts a sentence with: "My son . . ."

The jailer brushes him off and thunders: "I'm not your son."

Responds the victim, who had been in the vanguard of early communism:

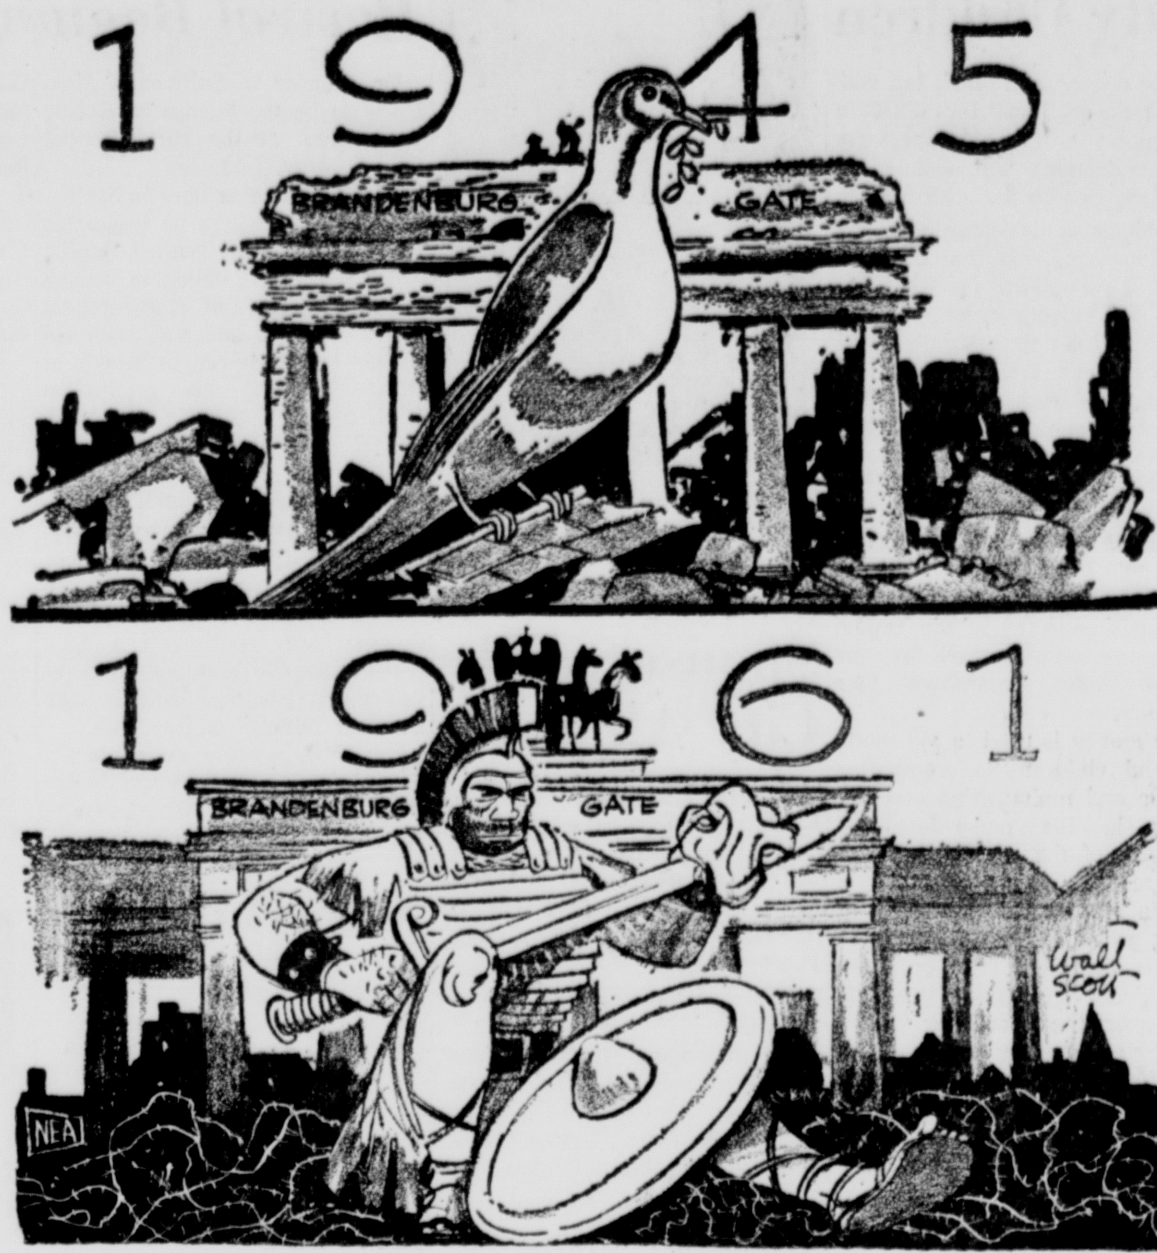

"Oh, yes you are. That's the horror of it." Repression, then, is the inevitable offspring of total control. Its force may be deliberately blunted from time to time. But, once having been used, it is always easy to use again.

Far from being better, communism is probably worse than naked Nazism. For it tries to mask its terror and tyranny in the false cloak of concern for humanity.

The "promise" it holds out is a vicious deceit. That deception not only lures the naive and unwary, but many who think themselves alert to any peril to freedom. Our British critics seem to be among them.

They are puzzled by us. We are puzzled that they find potential good in a system that offers repression as an inborn characteristic.

US Budget-Too Big, Too Complicated

By JAMES MARLOW
Associated Press News Analyst

WASHINGTON (AP) — The budget is like a black balloon. It keeps going up but you can't see through it.

Since it's what the government spends, for everything from missiles to pencils, it affects all our lives.

But no ordinary citizen can understand it. It's too big, too detailed, too complicated.

Yet, a brawl over it is building up between the politicians of both parties. It will get worse in the weeks ahead.

Over this weekend the Kennedy administration will make a forecast.

That this year's spending will be near $89 billion, a peacetime record; that government income, or revenue, will be only about $82 billion; and that therefore the budget deficit will be around $7 billion.

Two good reasons make the budget opaque:

1. What goes into it—meaning what the President and his aides, and later Congress, think it is necessary to spend—is after all a matter of judgment.

That alone means disagreement.

2. The budget figures—the list of expenses the President thinks necessary and submits to Congress every year for approval—fill a volume as big as a metropolitan telephone directory.

No uninitiated man could understand it all. In fact, just five days ago a congressional committee complained the whole budget procedure is 40 years out of date and should be modernized.

When President Eisenhower ran deficits the Democrats quickly gave him what-for. And he had some beauties, too.

One year it was $12.5 billion. For the fiscal year ending last June 30, President Kennedy announced in July, Eisenhower's deficit was $3.9 billion.

Now that Kennedy is running a

Looking Backward...

TWENTY-FIVE YEARS AGO
District Deputy John S. McGaw, of Sedalia, installed the following officers of the Knights of Columbus Council: Edwin S. Behen, Grand Knight; Francis Bahner, Deputy Grand Knight; J. C. McCloskey, Chancellor; Claude Boul, Financial Secretary; Ray Williams, Recorder; Arthur W. Klang, Treasurer; Thomas B. Ortwig, Advocate; John B. Wise, Warden; W. S. Hodges, Inner Guard; M. J. Lawson and Vincent Slatinsky, Outer Guards.

FORTY YEARS AGO
Philip Miner McLaughlin, son of Mr. and Mrs. John C. McLaughlin, 308 West Sixth street, has been appointed a platoon sergeant at Kemper Military Academy, Boonville.

The monthly meeting of the Rotary club consisting of a banquet and program was held in the Y.M.C.A. building with only one member absent. A short business session was held after which a quartette, composed of Edwin Hausman, Tommy Welch, Harvey Brimmer and Will Jakeman, with Herbert Berlin at the piano, rendered several vocal numbers.

deficit, the Republicans are re-turning the compliment. Eisenhower already has started banging away.

He not only recently criticized Kennedy's spending but added: "The state of confusion I now sense in Washington is like a tornado—on a spring day."

Democrats—but not Kennedy—promptly reminded him of that $12.5 billion deficit of his own. But after Kennedy goes into some detail in this weekend report there will be enough ammunition to keep the politicians shooting for months.

Meanwhile Kennedy has some ready explanations for his deficit: Getting the economy out of a tail-spin, building up necessary defenses.

As if to take some of the edge off the Republican criticism he can expect after this weekend, Kennedy has done things like these:

He urged his Cabinet and agency heads to be frugal in spending and hold down the number of government workers "to the minimum consistent with getting the job done."

But his administration has promised a balanced budget next year. The Republicans will be highly skeptical, and probably will tell him so before he ever tells Congress next January what the next year's budget should be.

Under Severe GOP Attack

Feed Grain Program-- Success Or Failure?

DP&R Special Service

WASHINGTON—Is it a success or a failure, this feed grain program of the Kennedy administration?

The answer depends on what standards of measurement one uses.

After being in effect for six months, the program is coming under severe attack from Republicans and the American Farm Bureau. They call it a miserable failure.

The Democrats appear honestly proud of the way the program has worked out thus far and they call it successful.

One thing does appear certain. It is that for the first time in years the government's bulging corn stocks will not increase, and probably can be reduced. This is a direct result of the feed grain program, which went into effect last March.

But what is it costing the government to achieve this? The answer appears to be: $760,000,000 in payments to farmers for not growing corn.

What makes it almost impossible to judge the success of the program is that no one will ever be able to determine with any real accuracy just how much the government would have had to pay out if the program had not been adopted.

As of the first of October, the 1961 corn crop was officially estimated at 3.5 billion bushels. This would be 364 million less than last year's. Sixteen percent of corn acreage was taken out of corn production by the feed grain program.

But it has been a marvelous year in most places for growing corn and the per acre yield is going to reach an all-time high.

The Democrats take this per-acre yield and multiply it by the number of acres taken out of production and then claim that the 1961 corn crop, without the feed grain program, would have been 693 million bushels greater than it is.

But the Democrats fail to acknowledge in their reasoning the obvious fact that the land taken out of production was the poorer lands, whose yields would not have been average.

The Republicans and the Farm Bureau, on the other hand, claim the 1961 corn crop would have been only 210 million bushels greater without the feed grain program. This, obviously, is an extremely low estimate.

If one splits the difference between these partisan estimates, you arrive at a reduction, as a result of the feed grain program, of 452 million bushels of corn.

This is corn the government would have had to purchase, transport and store for an average of about six years per bushel, all of which costs the government an average of $2.30 per bushel.

Thus, without the feed grain program, the government would have been out $1,039,600,000, for which it would have owned another 452 million bushels. Whether this would have been a better position than just being out $760,000,000 and having no additional corn is a matter of judgment, surely to play a part in next year's congressional elections throughout the corn belt.

Little Chats on Public Notice

PUBLIC FUNDS SHORTAGE

By juggling his books, a cashier in the office of the treasurer of an Ohio county wound up with a shortage of $17,408. The fact that there was an irregularity came to light almost accidentally. After the finding by examiners from the state auditor's office, the man was charged with embezzlement and turned over to the grand jury.

Betting on the races was the cause of the situation. Toward the end the cashier kept hoping for a big killing that would enable him to square his books.

All of the states and most of their subdivisions have requirements for periodic inspection of the books of various offices and officials, particularly those which handle public funds. This is necessary as a matter of good business. But it is essential, also, for the protection of the public and its stake in such matters.

Such requirements in the public interest are on a par with those which require or permit public notices. Such notices, in the form of "legal" advertising, are designed to put some one or the community-at-large on notice as to a proposed move or action which affects some kind of right. This may be an individual or general right, but in either case strict adherence to it is vital to the principle of due process as Americans know it and practice it.

It's Wife's Duty to Know Family's Financial Details

By FAYE HENLE

Today there are more than 24 million women in the labor force.

Today there are almost 10 million women who are heads of households.

Today there are 700,000 wives who support unemployed husbands.

And, without the gal who stays at home to tend the children and the kitchen range, many a man would not have any leftovers from his pay check for a savings account, to pay insurance premiums, to pledge against a loan or invest in securities.

Reads like without us women, progress, the economy and our population would come to a standstill. But, don't we make mistakes; haven't we still lots to learn?

This is what I asked Hilda K. Kollman, trust officer of the State Bank of Blue Island, Ill., and new president of the National Association of Bank Women. I asked it with special reference to the handling of finances.

Thoughtfully, Miss Kollman searched her experience, explaining that in a small city the banker plays the role of father confessor along with the clergyman and the family doctor. Finally she offered this checklist for women:

Make sure you make a will. Many women fail to realize that husbands usually leave all their property to their wives, believing the wife in turn will leave it to their children. Unless she has a will, however, the state could intervene and a husband's best-laid plans be shattered.

Wills should be reviewed, kept up-to-date with changing tax laws and family situations.

Make sure that the family insurance program covers the mortgage on your home. Then you'll always have a roof over your head.

Try to have enough liquid savings so that you may never be forced to sell securities, real estate or a business interest at a loss.

Make certain you personally meet any key advisers working with your husband on your money. This includes his lawyer, banker, insurance agent, investment counselor.

Even if you don't pay the household bills, keep the checkbook balanced and plan the family spending and savings program. You should know how.

Learn about all the services your local bank offers. You'd be surprised how much this might save you in time, money and anguish.

Ask your husband for a letter of instruction. It should fully cover what you should do in the event of his death.

Learn some kind of a job. There is no security like knowing that you can support yourself in an emergency.

Iritis Is Usually Symptom Of Trouble Outside the Eye

By Harold Thomas Hyman, M. D.
Written for Newspaper Enterprise Association

Q—What would cause an acute iritis? After my first attack, when I almost went blind, I was completely examined by my doctor who could find no cause.

Then I went to a surgical clinic, where they removed the left lobe of my thyroid gland. For awhile I saw a little better and then I got another attack.

I can hardly see. Have you any suggestions?

A—Iritis is usually a manifestation in the eye of a systemic disturbance that is taking place somewhere in the body other than the eye. It may be compared with the rash that appears on the skin during a generalized virus infection such as measles. Hence the search for the cause of an iritis must be conducted on a wide scale.

In my experience, the places to look, after routine surveys have been completed as in your case, are the nasal accessory sinuses that are in close proximity to the orbit (sphenoid and ethmoid) and the apical regions of remaining teeth.

Whereas detection of an apical tooth abscess presents no great difficulty, and removal of the abscessed tooth is a relatively simple procedure, a difficult problem confronts even the trained nose-and-throat specialist who suspects sphenoidal and/or ethmoidal infection.

Consequently, I would suggest that, if your dentist has no solution to offer, you request your doctor to refer you to the most expert nose specialist of his acquaintance.

Be sure to alert the consultant to the difficulty of the presenting problem so that he puts aside enough time to make the type of intensive investigation that may be required to save your sight.

Q—Last October, my hearing started to go bad and now I have been told I have "nerve deafness" for which nothing can be done. Is this true? I would hate to think so and I'd be willing to act as a "guinea pig" if any one thinks there is a chance for restoration of my hearing.

A—I wouldn't give up so easily if I were you. Nor would I volunteer to act the "guinea pig." In the first place, are you sure that you're no longer exposed to whatever damaged your hearing nerve? How about drugs like arsenic, quinine or members of the streptomycin family, for example?

Secondly, your nerve deafness might not be complete. And, if this is so, you might be fitted with a hearing aid that would permit you to function reasonably well with what hearing remains.

To get more complete details about the facilities available for those who are hard of hearing, contact the American Hearing Society at its national headquarters (919 — 18 St., N. W., Washington, D. C.), and/or the Deafness Research Foundation (310 Lexington Ave., New York City 16, N. Y.).

No Need for Hassle On 'Right' of Preparedness

By RUTH MILLETT
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

Khrushchev must be tickled pink at the number of Americans who are being misled into doing nothing by all the talk about whether or not a man has a moral right to build a family bomb shelter.

Those who are trying to make a moral issue out of a simple act of preparedness ask two questions:

Could you bear to take yourself and your family to the safety of a bomb shelter, knowing that all around you those not so fortunate would be waiting to die?

Would you want to live in a world devastated by bombs—a world, perhaps, without hope?

The first question is absurd. Is there any difference between a man building a shelter for his family and moving them into it at the first warning of an enemy attack, and that same man's attempt to get his family to a safe spot during a tornado alert?

No man can be responsible for the survival of a whole community, but each man can take every possible precaution to protect his own family against any anticipated threat.

The second question is equally absurd.

No war is going to wipe the earth clear of all humanity. Some are going to survive. And the more people of good will who survive, the better for the future of mankind.

If Americans keep on debating the moral right to build family bomb shelters while the Russians keep on making preparations to go underground — there probably will never be an atomic war. There'll be no need for one.

All K will have to do is say, "Our bomb shelters are ready. Every Russian can get to safety. Are you Americans equally prepared? If you aren't — then we'll be glad to take over your country without dropping a single bomb."

Fantastic? Not at all. That's why K must smile his evil smile when he reads that many Americans are ashamed to build bomb shelters for fear it is morally wrong for them to even want to survive a nuclear attack.

Kennedy Gets Two Sets of Advice

By DREW PEARSON

WASHINGTON — What the public doesn't know about the Berlin crisis is that the President has been receiving two sets of advice from inside the State Department on how to handle Khrushchev.

Now, with the flare-up between the Red Chinese and Khrushchev at the 22nd Communist Party Congress, one set of advisers has been proved completely wrong.

Just a few days before the 22nd Congress, Charles E. ("Chip") Bohlen was telling the White House that all was well between Khrushchev and the Chinese, that Nikita had had Tse-Tung eating out of his hand. Bohlen is rated as the State Department's No. 1 adviser on Russian affairs. What he says about the gospel.

He has been advising President Kennedy to take a hard line with Khrushchev, has leaned toward the idea that K was completely calling the shots inside the Soviet, that he had no problems with the Red Chinese or the Red army or the old Stalinist crowd.

Meanwhile, Ambassador Llewellyn Thompson, U.S. envoy to Moscow, has been advising the opposite. He has warned that Khrushchev had problems inside the Kremlin, that he had to yield to the Red army marshals on atomic testing, that the Red Chinese were ready to raise Cain if he didn't come up with a tough Berlin agreement to prove his policy of co-existence.

Thompson has also expressed the belief that the Red army forced Khrushchev to test the 50-megaton bomb.

The most important advice he has given Kennedy was that if Khrushchev is pushed out of the Kremlin, the USA will have to deal with someone much tougher, probably a fanatical Communist who would reverse Khrushchev's policy that war is not necessary between the capitalist and Communist world.

Disastrous Advice

This conflicting advice, coming at this crucial period to the President of the United States, is perhaps the single most important factor influencing U.S. foreign policy. It has a direct bearing on almost everything Kennedy does, especially Berlin.

For if the President considers Khrushchev a potential friend, he plays policy one way. If he considers him an inevitable enemy, he plays it the other.

As between these two sets of advice, Kennedy at first sided almost entirely with Bohlen. Bohlen, it should be noted, also had supporters, the most important being Dean Acheson, former secretary of state, who also advised Kennedy that it was impossible to get along with Khrushchev, that he should not yield an inch over Berlin.

Others believed just the opposite: Including Adlai Stevenson, ambassador to the UN; Chester Bowles, under secretary of state; Sen. William Fulbright, chairman of the foreign relations committee; and Sen. John Sherman Cooper, Kentucky Republican, an important member of the foreign relations committee.

They advised Kennedy, as early as three weeks before he was inaugurated, to take the initiative regarding Berlin. Thy advised that the Berlin problem was now 16 years old, that it couldn't be postponed indefinitely, that Khrushchev had already postponed it three times—at our urging. Finally they pointed out that a football player who is running with the ball is in a much better position than a football player who is trying to tackle him; so, they urged, Kennedy should grab the Berlin ball and run with it.

Kennedy Now on Defensive

Instead Kennedy took the advice of the anti-Khrushchev clique inside the State Department, and now finds himself trying to tackle Khrushchev who carries the ball.

Significantly, it was not until Ambassador Thompson was called back from Moscow last spring that Kennedy began to try to carry the Berlin ball. When Thompson returned to Washington, he advised that Khrushchev had problems with elements inside the Communist bloc who wanted war with the United States and that we had better help K make his policy of coexistence work.

It was then that Kennedy sent Khrushchev a letter, via Thompson, inviting him to meet in Vienna.

But by that time Khrushchev, though still anxious to meet with Kennedy, was getting the "I told you so" treatment from the Red Chinese, the Red army marshals and the Stalinists. He was in a stiffer mood.

He had released the RB-47 fliers right after Kennedy's inauguration in a carefully calculated attempt to improve relations. He had sent Kennedy a long, glowing inaugural telegram of congratulations for which he received only brief, formal thanks. He had offered to send an envoy of cabinet rank to Kennedy's inauguration, which was turned down. And when Ambassador Stevenson in New York said he was sure Kennedy would see Khrushchev if Mr. K came to New York to attend the UN, his got a blunt formal denial from the White House.

This had brought Bronx cheers from the Red Chinese, the Stalinists and those inside the Red army who had been telling Khrushchev that his policy of getting along with the West was all hogwash. Naturally it made Khrushchev much more difficult to deal with in Vienna.

All this is why the group of advisers who told Kennedy that Khrushchev had nothing to worry about inside Russia may be the single greatest factor influencing American policy for peace or war in this generation.

Wrong Way To Do It

No doubt Congress is being praised by archeologists, lovers of ancient art, and tourists, for having voted $4 million to help preserve the Nile valley's historic treasures in Egypt.

Without a massive rescue project costing in the end perhaps $75 million to $100 million, these relics will be inundated in a few years by the rising waters behind the new high Aswan dam.

The goal is of unquestioned worth. What can be questioned is why the Egyptians did not figure the cost as part of the total expense of the dam. It is customary and proper to count the burdens of relocation in with construction figures.

The Egyptians simply have handed America and the world a financial load they should be shouldering.

Alice Faye Ending Long Movie Rest

By BOB THOMAS
AP Movie-TV Writer

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Sixteen years ago, Alice Faye turned the key of her dressing room door at 20th Century-Fox and drove off the lot. She didn't return.

"I'd had it," she recalls. "I had gotten married to Phil (Harris) and I'd had my daughter Alice and then Phyllis. That seemed more important to me."

"Besides, I was mad about that last picture I had made, 'Fallen Angel.' I was doing it with Otto Preminger and I loved 'Laura,' which he had done. I was hoping for the same sort of picture, something that would get me into dramatic parts."

"They cut my big scenes right out of the picture. The studio was building up Linda Darnell at the time, and they made her scenes more important. Now I love Linda, but I didn't think they should be doing that to me."

"So I gave them the key and told them to keep it. I didn't even take my things with me. I understand they've still got a couple of trunks full of stuff of mine. Might be fun to go through it some day."

Alice is back on the old home lot, looking much the same as she did in her heyday — round-faced, blonde and cheerful. She is playing Pat Boone's mother, of all things, in a third go at "State Fair." It doesn't seem to bother her, being recently a grandmother.

All grandmothers should look so good. All stars should be such charmers. Alice belongs to the old school of film personalities, the ones who had a ball doing their jobs.

Alice came to Hollywood for "George White's Scandals of 1934" and was queen of the lot until the war years, when a girl named Betty Grable came along. Then Grable was queen until a girl named Marilyn Monroe came along. And so it goes.

COLUMBIA, Mo., Oct. 27 (Special)—It's a familiar sight...

Missouri's stout defenders must slip the noose around another greased greyhound this Saturday when the Nebraska Cornhuskers and Bill "Thunder" Thornton chop up Memorial Stadium's turf.

Tiger Homecoming could fill Mizou's sunken stadium to capacity. Expected attendance of 43,000 would top the record 42,000 turnout for Missouri's 14-all tie with California.

Ol Mizou takes a 4-0 record into the 55th grid meeting between the two old rivals. The Huskers, 2-2-1 thus far, ought to be in an ornery mood, for they haven't scored against the Dan Devine-coached Tigers in three previous tries.

A swift, power-driven halfback named Thornton aims to correct that indignity here Saturday—testing MU's vaunted barricade to the hilt. And while the defense, ninth in the national picture this week, is tracking "Thunder", the return of quarterback Ron Taylor and fullback Andy Russell figures to perk up a lagging attack that so far has been barely adequate to keep the Black and Gold among the nations unbeaten.

Nursing ankle injuries, Taylor sat out the Iowa State game, while Russell played the last seven minutes. Jim Johnson, big junior southpaw, directed the team ably in Taylor's absence in a quick switch from his customary defensive role. Sophomore Paul Underhill, who scored on a 12-yard burst and was the team's top rusher with 62 yards, and Roger Phillips shared Russell's job—with distinction.

As for Thornton, the 190-pound Toledo flash jumped to the No. 2 peg in conference rushing figures. Rivaling Syracuse's great Ernie Davis for "top back laurels" two weeks ago, he darted through the Orangemen for 133 yards. Last week, "Thunder" picked up another 121 against the Cowboys at Stillwater.

Biggest Home Crowd Expected At MU Saturday

COLUMBIA (AP)—The biggest home crowd in Missouri's history is expected to see the Tigers' tangle with Nebraska Saturday in their homecoming football game.

Don Faurot, athletic director, estimates 44,000 will be on hand. The record of 42,700 was set at the Kansas game last year. Faurot said there were 2,000 reserve seats still unsold this morning, and those, coupled with standing room, should take care of the latecomers.

On the field, the Tigers will face an upset-minded bunch of Cornhuskers who are determined to break another record by scoring at least one touchdown. Nebraska hasn't scored against the Tigers in the three years Dan Devine has coached at Missouri.

Leading the Husker charge will be 200-pound Bill "Thunder" Thornton, who has gained 398 yards in 67 carries this season. Missouri's solid line may have something Thornton hasn't seen yet, though.

Thornton takes a six-yard average into Saturday's game, as Coach Bill Jennings' Scarlet and Cream invaders exploit their Wing T offense and power sweeps against Missouri.

Carry Back Mystery To Be Solved

By TED MEIER

Associated Press Sports Writer
The Carry Back mystery may be solved with the running of Saturday's $75,000-added Trenton Handicap at Garden State Park. Carry Back is the 3-year-old colt who won the Kentucky Derby and the Preakness, then missed his chance for the coveted triple crown by finishing up the track in the Belmont Stakes.

After the Belmont, early in June, it was disclosed Carry Back had injured an ankle during the race. He did not race again until Aug. 26 when he won the Neptune Purse at Atlantic City. He won the Jerome Handicap at Belmont on Sept. 2, but since then has lost three straight.

Is Carry Back lame or isn't he? Jack Price, who trains the colt for his wife, Katherine, has not been saying much this week, so it is up to Carry Back to supply the answer himself in the Trenton.

Expected to enter the mile and one-quarter race against older horses is another 3-year-old colt, Ambipose. Sherluck, who beat Carry Back in the Belmont and Lawrence Realization, is another 3-year-old possibility.

The older horses expected to go include Intentionally and Divine Comedy, co-top weights at 124 pounds, Black Thumper, Mail Order, Nickel Boy, Talent Show and Polyad.

Russia Pits Colts Against US Opponents

LAUREL, Md. (AP)—Russia will try for the fourth straight time to win the Washington, D.C. International with a pair of 4-year-old colts.

Laurel announced today it had been notified by the Soviet Embassy in Washington that Zabeg and Erpich will race in the 10th International on Nov. 11.

The Russian entries bring the field to eight.

The United States pair was completed Thursday with the naming of T.V. Lark to join Mrs. Richard du Pont's Kelso.

T. V. Lark is owned by a syndicate of Kentucky breeders. France also has two entries, Match and Misti, while England will be represented by High Perch and Denark by Wonderboy.

JOIE HAS BEEN RUNNING MOST OF HIS LIFE.

He was the United States distance star of the roaring 20's. He matched a world record 4:12 in 1925, competed in three Olympics, carried the Illinois Athletic Club colors into 50 races and won medals, ribbons or trophies in all but one.

For the last six years, he has been running a birthday mile on April 13. His best was 5:50 in 1959. He was disappointed with his 6:32.6 special mile Thursday.

"I had been training since July," said Joie, retired Gary, Ind. steel mill worker. "I had been running two to four miles a day, rowing a boat, lifting the weights, working out at a health club and following a diet made up mostly of wheat germ. I was sure I could do it in six flat or better."

"But I'll stay in training and try again on my 68th birthday," Cureton said the undergraders he tests average about 7 minutes for the mile.

Before and after the run, Joie showed amazing cardiovascular (heart and blood vessels) fitness," said Cureton. "His ballisto-cardiogram, which computes the stroke volume of the heart, was better than those of 90 per cent of men, including active athletes, examined at the university over the years."

Robinson to Meet Moyer In Rematch

NEW YORK (AP)—Sugar Ray Robinson will meet Denny Moyer of Portland, Ore., in a rematch, matchmaker Teddy Brenner said today, but not until after he fights Canada's Willie Greaves for a second time.

Brenner said Robinson told him he is committed to fight Greaves in Pittsburgh Dec. 8, causing a delay in the Moyer bout at Madison Square Garden until Jan. 6. Robinson outpointed Greaves in Detroit Sept. 25 and Moyer at the Garden last Monday.

Ray Winning Race Against Father Time

CHAMPAIGN, Ill. (AP)—Joie Ray still is winning his race against father time. He did a 6:32.6 mile in the Illinois Armory Thursday. He is 67 years old.

The mile run was held under the watchful eye of Dr. Thomas K. Cureton, director of Illinois' Physical Fitness Research Laboratory.

Hurricanes Start Year Over Again

By JACK CLARY

Associated Press Sports Writer

The Miami Hurricanes, which have won only two of five games and have lost their last two hope to begin the college football season all over again tonight when they meet a strong University of North Carolina team in Miami's Orange Bowl.

But for teams like Michigan State, ranked first nationally in the current Associated Press poll, Mississippi, Texas and Alabama, the winning habit, cultivated with the opening game, should continue this weekend.

For Miami, off last week, a new start is contemplated. George Mira, the flashy sophomore quarterback who has been hobbled by injuries since the victory over Kentucky, is expected to see action. As Mira goes, so go the Hurricanes for he has not played in the last two games and saw only limited action in a 25-8 victory over Penn State.

George Washington (3-3) takes on Boston University (1-4) in the night's other major activity.

Michigan State (4-0), after two clutch wins over Michigan and Notre Dame, takes on Indiana in a Big Ten game. The Spartans, in a four-way tie for the conference lead with fifth-ranked Iowa, sixth-ranked Ohio State and Minnesota, should make it with plenty to spare.

Ohio State (3-0-1) meets Wisconsin (3-2) in the day's national television game (ABC-TV, 2:30 p.m. Eastern Standard Time) while Iowa (4-0) plays Purdue (2-2) and Minnesota (3-1) takes on Michigan (3-1) in the Little Brown Jug game. Each of the four Big Ten leaders has a 2-0 conference mark.

Mississippi, looking to next week's crucial Southeastern Conference clash against Louisiana State (No. 7) has a homecoming date against Vanderbilt (2-3). Ole Miss is 5-0 so far and has not lost in 20 games.

Alabama, atop the SEC with 4-0, is out of the conference against Houston (2-2-1) while Texas (5-0) plays what may be its last obstacle for the Southwest Conference title when it meets Rice (2-2-1). The third ranked Longhorns, which easily beat tough Arkansas last week, are 2-0 in the SEC and Rice is 1-0.

Notre Dame, ranked eighth with a 3-1 mark, meets Northwestern (2-2), ninth-ranked Georgia Tech (4-1) plays Tulane (1-4) in another SEC game and Big Eight leader Colorado (4-0) plays winless Oklahoma (0-4) in a conference tilt.

Admiral Says US Must Resume Nuclear Tests

HONOLULU, Hawaii (AP)—Rear Adm. John E. Clark, Pacific Missile Range commander, told a news conference at Pearl Harbor Thursday the United States should resume testing both of nuclear weapons in the atmosphere and of missiles with nuclear warheads in the Pacific.

"We ultimately must test our atomic weapons system in its entirety and this means actual firing," Clark said.

He said the Pacific would be the only area in which to fire nuclear warheads because of its vastness and the availability of atolls for targets.

The first Nike Zeus antimissile missile probably will be fired from Kwajalein with two months, he said.

Japanese Freighter Down In Heavy Seas

KOBE, Japan (AP)—The 6,888-ton Japanese freighter Fukuyama Maru sank today in heavy seas churned up by Typhoon Billie 220 miles northeast of Saipan.

The American freighter Dolly Turman off of New Orleans took off her crew of 47 and transferred them to a U.S. destroyer which headed for Guam.

De-waxer Mistakes For Apple Cider

MALVERN, Pa. (AP)—Seven children became ill Thursday after drinking floor de-waxer mistakenly served to them as apple cider at a Halloween party.

The children, ranging in age from 6 to 8, were treated at Bryn Mawr Hospital and released. Hospital officials said there would be no lasting effect.

Answers Your Problems

Dear Ann Landers: Do I have the right to walk out on my husband? Here's the story:

Scotty and I have been married for six years. We have two children. I've worked part-time as a waitress and have made good money.

Down at the plant where Scotty works there is always a floating crap game. When we got married he promised he'd stay out of the games, and he's been pretty good about it.

I've been saving my tips for almost two years so we could buy a new car. Last week when I counted the money there was over $1,000 in the cookie tin. Tonight I went to add another $15 and the tin was empty. Scotty admitted that he felt awfully lucky yesterday and took the money. Of course he lost it.

Am I justified in leaving him?—FAYE

Dear Faye: A woman who is so stupid she would leave $1,000 in a cookie tin deserves what you got. Of course your husband did a rotten thing, but what would be gained by leaving him? You would succeed only in depriving your children of a father. Have you ever heard of a bank?

Dear Ann Landers: During the month of July I went to visit my cousin. She is exactly my age, 15, and I had not seen her for six years.

I planned to stay there two weeks but seven days was all I could take. Karen smokes and drinks. Her friends are rough-necks who drive wild and use bad language. She never cleaned her room once in the week I was there. When her mother mentioned it she told her to "Shut up."

Yesterday I received a letter from Karen saying she wants to spend Christmas vacation with me. I don't want her here. What shall I do?—NO KISSIN' KIN.

Dear Kin: Say No. Since it's apparent you have little in common with this girl why try to entertain her? She wouldn't fit in with your friends any better than you fit in with hers.

Dear Ann Landers: What do you think should be done in a case like this? I've never heard of a similar incident so we have nothing to go by.

Our daughter was asked to be a bridesmaid by a very close friend. All the plans for the wedding were set and the five brides-

Fraternity Pins Touch Off a Probe

CHICAGO (AP)—A jewelry insignia manufacturer said Wednesday so-called official jewelers are a block to small businesses selling college fraternity jewelry.

John Buchroeder, owner of the J. A. Buchroeder Co., Inc., of Columbia, Mo., estimated at a Federal Trade Commission hearing the fraternity jewelry business totals between $15 million and $18 million a year in the United States. It is dominated mainly by the L. G. Balfour Co., of Attleboro, Mass., he said.

Balfour and the Burr, Patterson and Auld Co., of Detroit, Mich., have been accused by the FTC of monopolizing the manufacture and sale of fraternity jewelry.

Buchroeder testified that he could not compete successfully in the national fraternity insignia market because of so-called official jewelers, which he said give exclusive rights of sale of a fraternity's jewelry to a single manufacturer.

Questioned by Balfour attorney Joseph Kennedy, Buchroeder testified the St. Louis and Kansas City, Mo., markets have a $100,000 potential dollar volume in fraternity jewelry. He said his firm earns about $2,000 or $3,000 a year in these markets.

Buchroeder was asked by Kennedy if he enters in competitive bidding for national fraternity contracts and other organizations which use emblem jewelry. The witness said no.

Wedding were set and the five bridesmaids ordered their dresses and head-pieces and had their slippers dyed to match their gowns. The bride, of course, selected everything and as is the custom, each bridesmaid paid for her own outfit.

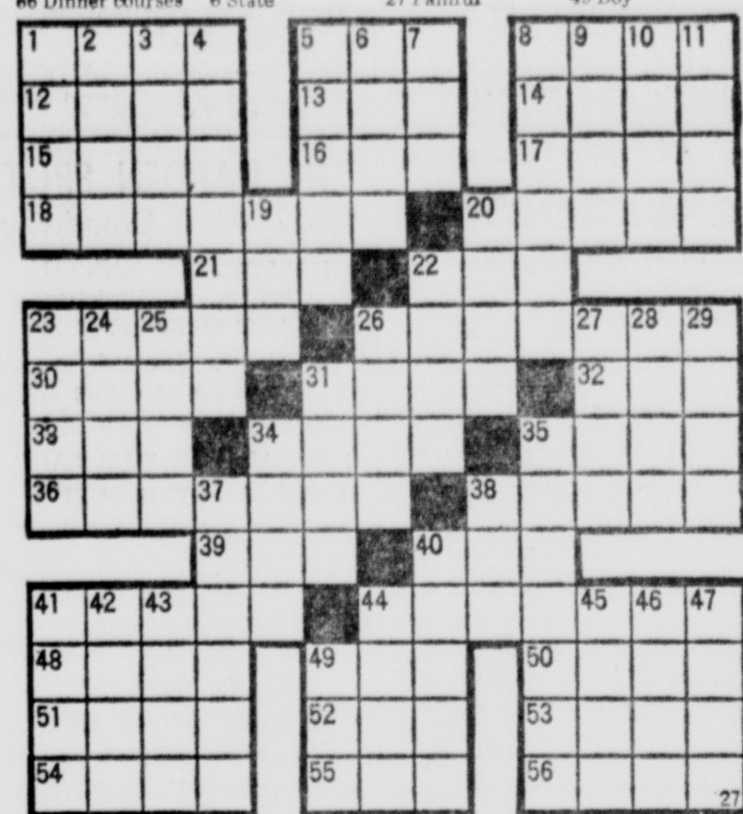

Yesterday (ten days before the wedding) the bride's fiancé got his army orders and the couple decided to call off the marriage. The bridesmaids are stuck with their outfits. Do you feel they should ask the bride to reimburse them?—P. H. E.

Dear P. H. E.: It would be

Bodies of Dead Are Claimed By Jap Relatives

TOKYO (AP)—The Japanese cities Oita and Beppu were plunged into gloom today as relatives and parents came to claim the bodies of 31 passengers killed in a one-coach train buried under tons of mud and rock.

The accident was the worst in a series which swept the main islands of Kyushu and Shikoku in the wake of torrential rains. National police said they left 44 dead, 38 missing and 45 injured.

Many of the train victims were high school students. Thirty-six others were injured, 12 seriously.

Police said rain loosened a 50-foot embankment.

Discoveries Hint Jesus Worked As Farm Hand

By GEORGE W. CORNELL
Associated Press Religion Writer

Jesus has always been considered a skilled carpenter, but he also may have been good at plowing a furrow or wielding a sickle at wheat-cutting time.

Indications of such all-around rural labor by the Man of Nazareth have come from recently recovered archaeological materials, giving additional insight into scriptural words.

The Rev. Dr. Jerry Vardaman, professor of Biblical archaeology at Southern Baptist Theological Seminary, says the evidence suggests that Jesus probably was a "farm hand" who combined work in the field with that of a carpenter.

"This extra activity on Jesus' part adds a new dimension to our traditional understanding of His occupation," Dr. Vardaman said. "I am convinced that hereafter we must think of Jesus in a closer relationship with an agricultural setting than we have done heretofore."

Aside from other general implications, the specific clue to this view comes from notations found on ancient records, including a newly discovered item dating approximately from the first century, when Christ walked the earth.

In the writing, the Greek word, "tekton," seems to allude to one who functioned as a farm worker or general handyman. That same word in the New Testament is used to describe Jesus. But it is generally translated as carpenter, mason or woodworker.

For example, Mark 6:3 refers to Jesus as a tekton, customarily rendered in English as carpenter.

However, an item turned up in a collection of ancient artifacts recently given to the Southern Baptist Seminary at Louisville, Ky., clearly implies that a tekton of Jesus' time helped harvest the crops, at least occasionally.

The note, on a bit of clay tablet, says: "Give to the tekton in the month of Mesore (July 25-Aug. 23) with respect to the reaping of wheat, two artabae (measures of grain)."

Dr. Vardaman thus reckoned tekton to mean workman or farm hand, in line with the man's duties. The man also might have been adept with hammer and adze as a carpenter, but he obviously toiled in the field since he was paid for that.

If tekton isn't translated as farm hand, it would at least be more accurate to make it woodworker rather than carpenter, since tektones not only worked on houses but also on wooden farm equipment and furniture, Dr. Vardaman said.

"What I think we are going to have to face from now on," he added, "is that even as a woodworker, Jesus had close relationships with agricultural life."

Wesley Methodist Church Observes Reformation Day

The festival of the Reformation will be observed Sunday morning at the worship hour at the Wesley Methodist Church. The pastor's message for the day will be entitled, "Our Repentant Reformation."

There will be a special feature during the morning worship with the presentation of a dramatic choral reading given by a group of women from the Womens Society of Christian Service. They will present "New Churches For New Times" which presents the Home Mission theme for the National Council of Churches study this year.

Those participating in the group will be Mrs. Clinton Campbell, Mrs. Royce Garmon, Mrs. Harry Burford, Mrs. Darrel Van Baale, Mrs. Fred Hill, Mrs. Don Paman, and the director, Mrs. Jack Gray.

Salem Methodist Calls Conference

A quarterly conference has been called for the Salem Methodist Church by the District Superintendent, Rev. Mark Horn, for 3 p. m. Oct. 29.

The pastor, Rev. E. W. Bartley, said it is important for all members to be present, as action concerning some of the church property is to be taken.

Area Lutherans Sponsor Service At Versailles

"Thank God for His wonderful blessings in the precious Gospel of Jesus Christ" is the keynote for the special Luther Day celebration sponsored by the Missouri Synod Lutheran Churches of the Sedalia Circuit, Sunday afternoon.

The services, beginning at 3 o'clock, will be held in the high school auditorium at Versailles.

The speaker will be the Rev. William J. Wollenburg, pastor of St. Paul's Lutheran Church at Concordia. A mass Children's Chorus and a large Adult Choir will sing special selections. Members of the 12 Missouri Synod Lutheran congregations in this area will participate in the celebration.

It is recalled that these Luther Day services had their beginning in Convention Hall of Liberty Park in Sedalia, in 1935, when a total of 3,000 persons attended the morning and afternoon services. The members of St. Paul's and Our Savior Lutheran Churches of Sedalia invite their many friends to these services.

Publication Set to Mark 25th Birthday

By JULES LOH
AP Staff Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — One summer day in 1936 The Rev. Louis A. Gales, a curate at St. Agnes Church in St. Paul, Minn., decided to do something about an idea that had been nagging him more than two years.

Hopefully, he mailed to about 9,000 Catholics across the country a dummy cover of a digest type magazine, its suggested contents were asked on an enclosed postcard whether they would subscribe to this kind of publication.

Two months later, Father Gales, 40, and his close friend, The Rev. Paul Bussard, sat in the basement of the Bishop's House in St. Paul, a bushel basket of postcards between them, and began making plans for what was to become the most successful Catholic magazine in the world.

Catholic Digest, which observes its 25th anniversary with the 144-page November issue, now is a private corporation grossing $5 million a year, boasts a paid U.S. circulation of 751,178, newsstand sales of 15,000 a month, plus 10 foreign editions printed in five languages and a Braille edition.

In addition, the magazine has a monthly book club with 56,000 members and next February plans to begin publication of a second magazine, "The Catholic Market," a slick-paper monthly aimed at what it describes as "the $3 billion to $4 billion Catholic trade market." Another enterprise in the works is a junior book club offering biographies of famous Catholics.

Despite its financial success, Father Gales says frankly the aim of the magazine is not to make money, but to make more Catholics. "Our hope is to show the rich content of the Catholic faith by selecting the best reading material available so that those who are mildly interested in Catholicism might investigate it more thoroughly," he said.

Only about 15 per cent of the contents of each issue is of a religious nature, and about three-quarters of the religious material is staff written.

Father Gales said a survey showed that about one of every six persons who read the magazine is not a Catholic. These are invited to investigate Catholicism through a regular monthly feature, "What would you like to know about the church?"

All queries are answered, either by mail or through the magazine. Published replies have expressed the Catholic attitude on such things as capital punishment, test tube babies, evolution and Billy Graham.

Another of Catholic Digest's aims, said Father Gales, is to promote what he considers some of the deserving but less successful Catholic periodicals published in America. One method is to buy manuscripts (for up to $400) from authors, give them to struggling Catholic magazines, then reprint the articles in Catholic Digest.

No Names to Appear

KEOTA, Iowa — There won't be any names on the ballot here for the Nov. 7 election of city officers.

The reason: All the candidates for town offices forgot to have their nomination papers signed and notarized, as required by law.

City Clerk Jack McFadden said the mistake wasn't discovered until too late to remedy the situation. He said the citizens will have to elect a mayor and five councilmen by write-in ballot.

Borrowed Car Causes Mix-up With Police

MEMPHIS, Tenn. (AP) — About a week ago, Katie Cavallo had to go to a hospital for a few days. She offered a friend, Juanita Kerns, the use of her car.

Mrs. Kerns picked up Mrs. Cavallo at the hospital Thursday and Mrs. Cavallo asked: "Whose car is this?"

Mrs. Kerns somehow had borrowed the wrong car. It had been reported stolen but police straightened everything out with no charges.

Beef, Fowl Top Market Bargain List

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Various cuts of beef continue to lead the bargain list in many supermarket and neighborhood grocery stores this week, although turkeys and broiling or frying chickens offer strong competition.

The steady run of beef bargains reflects commercial production in August and September running slightly above a year ago. This production picture is expected to continue for the rest of the year.

Poultry price specials seem most plentiful in the southwest and midwest. Broilers and fryers are slightly higher in some markets.

Meat experts suggest the long-term trend is likely to be higher for turkeys, since farmers are cutting back production sharply because of low prices.

Round and chuck roast are the top beef cuts in the northeast, while steaks get a play in the southeast and some loin cuts are down 2 to 5 cents a pound in the Los Angeles area.

Bacon also is a prime item on the west coast, with prices off 2 to 5 cents a pound. Wholesale prices on bellies (from which bacon is cut) have been dropping recently.

Eggs remain a good buy, too, with some sizes down 3 to 5 cents a dozen around San Francisco and New York prices running 12 to 14 cents a dozen less than a year ago after slight cuts this week.

Best buys among vegetables are cabbage, cauliflower, onions, potatoes, sweet potatoes, carrots and squash. In the Southeast, Florida sweet corn is still attractively priced, too.

Other good buys included tomatoes, snap beans, lettuce, peppers, cucumbers, celery and broccoli. Seasonal specialties include turnips, rutabagas and spinach.

With hallowe'en almost here, pumpkins are especially plentiful and prices are generally low.

There are many bargains in assorted types of cheese. "Top fruit buys appear to be apples, oranges, grapes and grapefruit. Pears and melons are good buys, too, while the cranberry crop is expected to be large.

Fall Season Brings Back Old Problems

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Sinus trouble, pouring cool water on burns, and poor diet that leads to bad grades in school are subjects for focus on health.

Sinus Season
With the fall season of colds and influenza comes the possibility of sinus trouble for many people. Doctors advise the best defense is early treatment.

Early sinus problems like headache are often masked by the general ill feeling of a cold or the flu. Later the headache may not be the most prominent complaint. In fact, most specialists find that only a tenth of their patients who complain of sinus headaches actually have sinusitis, says an article in the British journal, Lancet.

Early treatment should be aimed at improving the patient's general condition and at relieving the problem locally. Local heat and mildly medicated steam inhalations are helpful in draining and ventilating the sinuses. Nose drops may be useful in mild cases, but prolonged use can result in a chronic congestion similar to allergic reactions.

First Aid For Burns
Cool water may be an effective first-aid device for burns and scalds, and a pain-killer as well, says Dr. O. J. Ofeigsson of Reykjavik, Iceland.

Run cold tap water over the mild burn, he suggests, or soak it in cold water, milk, sea water or some other clean, harmless fluid. Switch to clean water as soon as possible, if you choose a substitute in an emergency.

Under the tap, take care that the water pressure does not break or injure the skin. Avoid breaking blisters and don't apply dressings.

Money Apparently Getting Feeble As It Grows Older

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK — Have you been noticing how feeble your money is lately?

It doesn't go so far. Money is like people. As it grows older, it doesn't seem able to do as much as it did when younger. And therefore it doesn't command the same respect from those around it.

The dollar bill is showing its age. It has lost a lot of cents. As long ago as the Truman administration the 100-cent dollar had declined to 54 cents.

Today the portrait of George Washington would have to undergo a real face-lifting job to get the dollar back up even to that level.

The erosion of money continues in small almost unnoticed ways and goes on, it seems, no matter what we do or who runs the government.

Every now and then something happens, however, to call it dramatically to our personal attention.

A few weeks ago, for example, I handed the bootblack in our office a quarter for a shoeshine, as I have for many years. He shook his head.

"It's 30 cents," he said. "Thirty cents for a shoeshine?" I asked, a bit dazed.

"Why not?" he replied. "The price of everything else has gone up. I gotta raise my price, too."

A few days ago I asked him if his 30-cent scale had cost him many customers.

"No," he said. "Why should it? Business is as good as ever. What's an extra nickel to most people?"

Well, to one man at least that extra nickel was a disillusioning experience in basic economics. I can distinctly remember when, if you paid 15 cents for a shoeshine, it gave you the feeling you were a real sport and something of a patron of the fine arts. Now at 30 cents I was barely meeting the going rate.

Even as long ago as the World War I era a vice president of the United States could murmur nostalgically: "What this country needs is a good five-cent cigar." But at that time you could still get a pack of cigarettes for six cents for less than a medium and buy a good serviceable topcoat for less than a medium-priced pair of shoes cost now.

Remember the $2 hotel room,

Keep the burned area in the water until the pain has ceased.

Well Fed Scholar
Poor nutrition may be the cause of some bad grades in school, says Dr. George M. Cummins Jr. of Northwestern University.

Bad eating habits can lead to physical and emotional problems that can impair scholastic performance, he suggested. Crowded conditions in some school cafeterias often lead children to a lunch-time diet of candy bars and doughnuts.

Jaycees Open Fall Board Meeting

STATE HEADQUARTERS HERE — Sedalia's Jaycees are proud of the modern structure which they built and donated in 1957 as the first permanent headquarters building for the Missouri Junior Chamber of Commerce. The club obtained building materials and supplies from local firms and provided the labor to erect the building on a tract donated by the Sedalia Airport Board. The headquarters building, which serves all Jaycee organizations in Missouri, is located on east Highway 50 at the local airport. Jaycees and their wives will tour the headquarters at 4 p.m. Saturday. (Democrat-Capital photo)

500 Members And Wives Here From Over Missouri

Jaycees from all over the state began streaming into Sedalia late today for opening activities of the organization's Missouri Fall Board Meeting here. Some 500 Junior Chamber of Commerce members and wives are expected before the weekend convention concludes Saturday afternoon, according to local Jaycees.

The state Jaycee president, Sedalia's own Dick Thomas, will preside over the three-day program, which includes a meeting of the state Jaycee Wives also. Mrs. Jean Myer of Chillicothe is president of the state auxiliary.

A highlight of the slate of fun and information will be an address by R. Crosby Kemper, president of the City National Bank and Trust Co. in Kansas City, who will speak at the Saturday evening banquet in the Smith-Cotton high school cafeteria.

Theme of the convention planned under the leadership of Sedalia Jaycee, Dick Schwalie, is "A Ball in the Fall." Headquarters will be set up in the Bothwell Hotel.

Tonight's schedule opens with an executive committee meeting at 7 p.m. in the state headquarters building on East Highway 50. Registration headquarters at the Bothwell Hotel open at 3 p.m. and registration continues until 10 p.m. A "get acquainted" mixer and dance for Jaycees and their wives begins at 9 p.m. in Convention Hall in Liberty Park.

The Jaycee Wives kickoff their schedule at 7:45 a.m. Saturday

Kemper To Be Jaycees Keynoter

R. Crosby Kemper, Jr., president of the City National Bank and Trust Company in Kansas City, will be keynote speaker at the Saturday night banquet at the Jaycee fall board meeting here this weekend.

Kemper and his wife plan to arrive in Sedalia at noon Saturday, it was reported. They will attend some of the meetings on the Jaycee program prior to his address.

A third generation member of a family that has been prominent in Kansas City banking and finance for almost 50 years, the 34-year-old executive is the head of one of Kansas City's largest banks. He carries on the traditions established by his grandfather, the late W. T. Kemper, and his father, Rufus Crosby Kemper, Board Chairman of City National. He has recently distinguished himself as an authority on communism.

In the field of finance, like his father and his grandfather before him, Kemper is aggressive, impatient for action and a believer in "risk capital". He believes in limiting risk capital to a given sensible amount of one's resources, but an amount that benefits not only the investor but the American economy, which depends on risk capital to finance research, and to create new in-

Allen Hawkins

Local Prexy Has Compiled Fine Record

Joining the Sedalia Jaycees in 1955, Allen Hawkins, 31, rapidly built himself an impressive record of civic responsibility and in 1961 was named to the presidency of the local chapter.

Hawkins has held several offices and headed important local projects. In 1957 he was elected to the board of directors and placed in charge of youth activities. His work netted him the Active Leaders Award in 1958 and in 1959 he was voted the Outstanding Jaycee of the Year.

During 1959 he also took his second Active Leaders Award, attended the Jaycee Leadership Institute in Warrensburg and served as chairman of the Jaycees Little League baseball team, the Teenage Safe Driving Road-E-O, the Street Bazaar and the Merchandise Mart.

The state chairmanship of the Teenage Road-E-O was placed in his hands in 1960 and he served as first vice president with his home chapter. The same year, Hawkins conceived the idea of the Sedalia Jaycee magazine and under his leadership it took first place in the publications field at the state convention in Springfield this June.

He has worked on the Atoms for Peace project, the local Home Show, annual Crippled Children's TV auction, local parades and helped with the construction of the state headquarters building here.

Allen, his wife, Shirley, and their children reside at 1609 West Ninth. He is employed with the Benton was elected one of ten vice-presidents of the United States Junior Chamber of Commerce at the 41st annual convention in Atlanta, Ga., June 19-22.

After rapidly rising to state president of Michigan, Benton's administration founded 43 new chapters and ended the year with a net membership increase of 1,900 members. Among the Jaycee honors he has received during his six years of service are the Clint Dunagan Award for outstanding national directors and the Clayton Frost Award, for outstanding state Jaycee presidents.

A 1954 graduate of North Carolina State College with a degree in ceramic engineering, Benton is president of Abrasives and Ceramics, Inc. He is a past member of Kiwanis, the Executive Scout Committee and served this past year as a member of the governor's information committee for a state constitutional convention.

Immediately after his election, Byenton was named to head the national membership portfolio. As a national vice president, he is assigned for visitations the states of Minnesota, Michigan, Wisconsin, North Dakota and South Dakota. During the 1961-62 year, he will travel an estimated 50,000 miles throughout the five states.

As a national veep besides his visitations and portfolio assignment, he'll be a voting member of the national Executive Com-

Heynen Monument Company. Mrs. Hawkins, also active in Jaycee work, is the current president of the Jaycee Wives chapter here.

Viet Nam Chief Asks Citizens For Sacrifices

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) —President Ngo Dinh Diem told his people today they have not done enough to press the war against the Communist rebels.

Calling for more sacrifices, he also told the armed forces in an order of the day they must "give greater consideration to social and psychological factors" in the campaign against the Viet Cong guerrillas.

Diem's special messages were issued on the sixth anniversary of South Viet Nam becoming a republic and his election as the nation's first and only president.

He spoke out a day after the departure of Gen. Maxwell D. Taylor, who after a survey for President Kennedy implied the South Vietnamese themselves should make a greater effort to combat the Communist menace.

Queen City of the Prairies Welcomes Missouri Jaycees

Sedalia, the Queen City of the Prairies and home of the Jaycee state headquarters building, this weekend welcomes Missouri Jaycees attending the fall board meeting. City and Chamber of Commerce officials have rolled out the red carpet for the estimated 500 young men and their wives who will attend.

A city clean and modern in all respects lies at the disposal of the visiting Jaycees. Several public facilities will play leading roles in staging the board meeting: convention headquarters in Hotel Bothwell, Convention Hall in Liberty Park, the Pettis County courthouse, Masonic Temple, Smith-Cotton High School cafeteria and the Old Missouri Homestead.

Founded by Gen. George R. Smith on Oct. 16, 1860, Sedalia recently marked its 101st birthday. Smith's original plat of ground was selected over the town's old center at nearby Georgetown to be nearer the approaching Missouri Pacific railroad. Following the Civil War Sedalia became a rail terminal for cattle herds from the Southwest and the popular TV show "Rawhide" depicts life in the pistol packin' era of the old Rawhide Trail. Since then the city has grown to number some 25,000 persons and hold an assessed valuation just short of $30 million.

Local Jaycees secured for practically nothing the material necessary to erect the state headquarters building and provided the labor to build the structure in 1957 on ground donated by the city.

The city offers an airport, moderate climate, fine schools, fire and police protection, an excellent hospital, various civic clubs, progressive industries, a twice-daily and a weekly newspaper, two radio stations, one TV station and an excellent library.

The local Crippled Children's Center is rated tops nation-wide in its care and therapy for handicapped children. This center has the full support of local Jaycees—one of the center's largest contributors.

Sedalia hosts the State Fair, luring over a half million persons annually. Ragtime music calls Sedalia its home and it was here that famed rag composer Scott Joplin turned out and well known, "Maple Leaf Rag." Sedalia rated nation-wide headlines just recently when a memorial to Scott Joplin and his ragsters was erected on the parking lot at Main and Lamine — site of the old Maple Leaf Club.

Lying at the gateway to the Lake of the Ozarks and near Whiteman Air Force Base at Knob Noster the town's economy gains a substantial boost from these area facilities. Whiteman will soon be the hub of a massive Minuteman missile complex now under construction in the central Missouri region.

Three local bowling alleys and a public golf course offer seasonal recreation for visiting Jaycees.

Into Office In July

State Jaycee President Member of Local Club

Sedalia's own Jaycees boast the membership of state president Dick Thomas, who will preside over the state Fall Board Meeting here this weekend.

Dick was named president of the Missouri Junior Chamber of Commerce at the annual state convention held at Springfield in May of this year. His term of office ends July 1, 1962.

Thomas is a native of Boonville, having moved to Sedalia in 1954 after completing requirements for his degree in business administration at Missouri Valley College in Marshall. He joined the Jaycees in 1952 and since that time has moved up the ladder from local chairman to state president. During 1959-60, he was president of the Sedalia Jaycees and led his club to one of the top positions in Missouri. Last year, he served on the board of directors of the United States Junior Chamber of Commerce. He is the second state Jaycee president from Sedalia and the first since the state headquarters was permanently moved to that city in 1957.

Thomas, 2505 Kay, is married and he and his wife Rosalie are the parents of two boys, Kyle 4, and Grant 2. He is a life long Presbyterian and is a member of the board of deacons at the Broadway Presbyterian Church in Sedalia, where he is active in many civic activities. He is employed in the advertising sales department of Radio Station KSIS, Sedalia.

At the National Convention in Atlanta in June, 1961, Thomas was chosen as one of the Ten Outstanding National Directors in the United States for his work last year and received the coveted Clint Dunagan Memorial Award.

Thinks Divorce Grounds Should Be Discarded

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (AP) — The president of the American Association of Marriage Counselors says all legal grounds for divorce should be discarded.

Dr. David R. Mace, associated professor of the University of Pennsylvania School of Medicine, said Thursday night that he would end marriages only after thorough examination by well-trained advisors has shown the marriage to be unworkable.

"The idea of husband and wife as adversaries is entirely contrary to all principles of marriage and should never enter divorce proceedings," he told Florida marriage counselors at a seminar.

Elderly Gents Come to Blows In a Hospital

HILO, Hawaii (AP) — Catalino Sile and Emiliano Bibiline, both Filipino nationals, had been roommates at Hilo Hospital for 10 years.

They shared the chores of keeping their quarters.

Early this week, Sile asked Bibiline to mop. Bibiline said it was not his turn. They had words.

Bibiline bopped his roommate with his cane. Sile retaliated. Nurses pulled them apart and moved them into separate quarters.

Sile is 91. Bibiline is only 89.

dustries and jobs.

As a banker and a strong believer in the potentialities of his native Kansas City, Kemper thinks that "banks should not be content to sit back and collect coupons. . . they've got to provide credit for expansion and development of the area."

His views on banking are based on down-to-earth practical experience as well as sound economic theory. Twelve years ago he joined City National starting on the night shift of the transit department. He has worked in nearly every department of the bank, learning internal administration, studying credit and loan operations, calling on commercial customers and correspondent banks all over the country.

In 1956 he was named executive vice president of the bank and two years later became chairman of a newly organized committee which gave him broad over-all executive powers. Kemper became President of City National early in 1959 and almost simultaneously he became President of the Brownlee-Moore Banking Co. of Brookfield, Mo. He is also a director of the Central Bank of Kansas City.

Kemper's business connections are exceeded by his civic and cultural affiliations. He is currently chairman of the Kansas City Industrial Foundation, a group which raised over a million dollars in less than three weeks with which to aid in the financing necessary to attract new industry to the Kansas City area. He is immediate past president of the Kansas City Committee of 80, a Chamber of Commerce special committee concerned with the creation of an over-all master plan for the future growth of the Kansas City area.

Kemper is a former director and treasurer of the Chamber of Commerce and is a director of the Kansas City Salvation Army, the Philharmonic, the Starlight Theater and Rockhurst College. He is a trustee of the Art Institute, on the advisory board of Research Hospital and a former board member of the Kansas City Safety Council.

In 1957 he was chairman for Brotherhood Week, sponsored by the National Conference of Christians and Jews and in 1960 was honored by the Junior Chamber

How to Achieve Them."

Missouri's assigned national vice-president, Gentry was elected at the U. S. Jaycee's 41st annual convention in Atlanta, Ga., June 19-22. Gentry is the outgoing Alabama state Jaycee president and began a successful Jaycee career four years ago when he founded the Moulton chapter.

Since that time, he has moved through the ranks from local president to state vice president and on to state president.

As Alabama state Jaycee president, Gentry was chiefly responsible for the establishment of a state headquarters office in Anniston. Redistricting was also a key achievement of Gentry's administration.

A graduate of the University of Alabama with a B.S. degree in finance, he is cashier at the Citizens Bank in Moulton. Aside from a busy Jaycee schedule, Gentry has been active in Lions and the American Legion.

After his election as national vice president, he was given the newly developed Civic Activities portfolio. Aside from developing this national programming area, Gentry will make planned visitations to the states of Arkansas, Tennessee, Mississippi, Alabama and Missouri. These promotional and administrative jaunts are estimated to take him 50,000 miles before his year in office expires.

As a national veep besides his visitations and portfolio assignment, he'll be a voting member of the national executive committee which meets five times yearly.

He and his wife, Peggy, have two children: Karen, 3, and Gregory, 5 months.

Mental Disease Pioneer Dies

ST. LOUIS (AP) — Dr. Hillel Unterberg, reportedly the first physician to have administered shock treatments for mental disease in the midwest, is dead of a heart attack at the age of 80.

Dr. Unterberg, a widely known neuropsychiatrist, died Wednesday in Missouri Pacific Hospital.

He was a member of the St. Louis University Medical School faculty until his retirement two years ago.

The department of neuropsychiatry of Alexian Brothers Hospital is named for him.

Sedalia Jaycees Organized In 1950

The Sedalia Junior Chamber of Commerce was chartered in April of 1950. The organization is affiliated with the Missouri State Junior Chamber of Commerce, the United States Junior Chamber of Commerce and Junior Chamber International. Its operation is subject to the constitution and by-laws of these three bodies.

The purpose of the organization is civic service through the organized effort of young men within the community, and promotes the welfare of the community and its citizens through constructive project activity. It is the purpose of this organization to provide the young men, constituting its membership, leadership training opportunities.

To become a member of the outstanding young men's organization in Sedalia, any young man between the ages of 21 and 35, both inclusive, and of good character is eligible for active membership. In addition, any man between the ages of 18 and 20 years and 36 and 40 years and of good character is eligible to become an associate member with full privileges excepting the right to vote and to hold office.

In all probability, the Sedalia Jaycees, as the organization has come to be known, are responsible for the finest project ever conducted by a single local chapter in the state of Missouri. It was the building and donating of the first permanent state headquarters building for the Missouri State Junior Chamber of Commerce. Under the direction of Jaycee Peter Potter, former Democrat News Editor, the Sedalia club contacted many local business firms for building materials and supplies.

The Sedalia Airport Board donated a tract of land at the Municipal Airport and the Jaycees set out on an intensive campaign for the location of the state headquarters in this city. The building was actually constructed by members of the Sedalia Jaycees in order to cut building costs to an absolute minimum. This office serves all of the 111 Jaycee organizations in the state of Missouri and houses two full time staff personnel.

The Sedalia Junior Chamber of Commerce has consistently ranked among the top ten local Jaycee organizations in the state of Missouri. They have contributed several members who have been elected to high positions in the State and National Junior Chambers of Commerce.

Through the years, the Sedalia Jaycees have conducted many outstanding projects which are held on an annual basis. Listed are some of these activities:

OUTSTANDING YOUNG FARMER AWARD: This program is conducted for the purpose of stimulating the importance of good management within the agricultural field.

DISTINGUISHED SERVICE AWARD: This award is presented annually to the young man who has made the outstanding contribution toward community betterment.

CRIPPLED CHILDREN'S TV AUCTION: This project is conducted, with the help of local business firms, to provide money, for operation of the Crippled Children's Center.

JAYCEE HOME AND SPORT SHOW: The money derived from this project is used by the Jaycees to conduct other civic and community activities.

JAYCEE YOUTH ACTIVITIES: These projects are conducted by the Jaycees for the benefit of the younger citizens of Sedalia and Pettis County. These activities are: Junior Golf, Little League Baseball, Teen-age Safe-driving Road-e-o, Rural Santa Claus, and the Youth Fitness Program, known as Junior Champ.

JAYCEE CHICKEN BARBECUE: This is a ways and means project to raise funds for other local activities.

The successful program that has been conducted by the Sedalia club could not have been a reality without the excellent cooperation of Sedalia business firms and interested individuals.

More recently, another big Jaycee project is the Sedalia Soap Box Derby.

Conducted for the first time last year, the event has become a permanent program for the local club.

Last year 58 boys entered the competition and about 60 young girls competed for the Derby Queen title.

Largest Young Men's Group

Jaycees Founded In 1920 By Henry Giessenbier

The world's largest young men's civic organization began because Henry Giessenbier in St. Louis, Mo., felt that young men should not have to wait around until middle age to participate in civic affairs.

Giessenbier was struck by the thought that young men should be organized for the purpose of performing civic service and developing leadership in themselves. He called a meeting of interested young men and 32 responded.

By 1916 the work of the new organization had attracted attention of many others. The Jaycees had promoted projects aimed at securing greater participation in government, a better relationship among agriculture, industry and labor, less juvenile delinquency and a host of other activities. Word about their activities spread and inquiries began to pour in from all parts of the United States. In 1919 Giessenbier sent a call to all known groups, asking them to come to St. Louis to form a national organization. Twenty-four cities responded and on January 21, 1920 the United States Jaycees came into existence.

By 1941 the organization boasted 1,066 clubs. Then came World War II and 85 per cent of the Jaycees went into service. The end of the war found veterans returning with new appreciation of America and a desire to take a more active part in their communities. In 1946, 25,000 new members were added as were many new programs. By September of 1953 the membership of the Jaycees was upwards of 150,000 and nearly 2,200 local organizations were spread over the 48 states, Hawaii and Alaska. Jaycee organizations have also spread to over 50 foreign countries. Following the Korean War the Jaycee story continued to grow with 2,500 clubs in the U.S. and upwards of 200,000 members. Sedalia Jaycees have grown with the national and state organizations extending their fields of activity to better serve our community. A goal was reached on August 4, 1951, with the dedication of the beautiful debt-free Jaycee War Memorial building in Tulsa, Okla.

Jaycees Get Big Boost From Wives

The auxiliary to the Sedalia Jaycees first organized in April, 1954 under the name of Jayceettes. This year the women changed their title to Jaycee Wives to coincide with the state organization.

Purpose of the organization is to assist in any and every way the activities and growth of the Sedalia Jaycee chapter. The Jaycee Wives is a non-profit organization willing to assist other groups in the community.

Past projects of the wives have included filling food baskets for needy families at Christmas, repairing toys for children and providing new clothing for an adopted family. At practically every Jaycee project the wives will be found working to assist the men.

The club sends flowers to any member in the hospital, calls the Jaycee members before each meeting and holds an annual installation banquet to which their husbands are guests. Various civic and fund raising projects of their own are staged throughout the year by the club.

Mrs. Shirley Hawkins, wife of Allen Hawkins, president of the Sedalia Jaycees, is the current president of the Jaycee Wives. Other officers include: Mrs. Jack Allega, first vice president; Mrs. Bill Bridges, secretary; Mrs. Stan Gunter, treasurer. On the board of directors are Mrs. Dick Smith, Mrs. James Schumaker, Mrs. Robert Heins and Mrs. Joe Van Horn.

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Kennedy may back a proposal to build public fallout shelters alongside newly constructed federal-state highways.

If the plan is found feasible, the White House said in a letter to Sen. Thruston B. Morton, R-Ky., it may be included in Kennedy's recommendations to Congress early next year.

Morton had made the proposal in a letter to Kennedy. The reply, made public Wednesday, was signed by presidential assistant

Lawrence F. O'Brien. He said Kennedy considers the idea "very interesting."

Morton proposed building a string of large roadside public fallout shelters in conjunction with highway construction as a means of obtaining mass protection rapidly at low cost.

He said shelters could be built in areas of high population density, especially at interchanges, as well as along open highways.

The proposal has gone to Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara for consideration.

The huge holes that result when highway builders strip earth and rocks for fill material could be turned into deep shelters and covered over with dirt while heavy equipment is still available, Morton wrote the President.

Big Sunday Punch For TV Viewers

By CYNTHIA LOWRY

NEW YORK (AP) — Network television has a big Sunday punch for the viewers—particularly the ones that complain there's nothing worth watching any more.

Graham Greene's novel "The Power and the Glory," adapted to a two-hour TV drama, will be shown on CBS Sunday from 9 to 11 p.m. (EDT) with a big, star-studded cast headed by Laurence Olivier and Julie Harris. And it is expected to be one of the big events of the season.

There is also NBC's "The World of Bob Hope," first of a series of documentary biographical projects using new camera techniques. This one also comes on Sunday, from 7:30 to 8:30 p.m.

Among the regularly scheduled shows during the next seven days, there are some items of passing interest:

Tonight, for instance, Lee Marvin will perform on two CBS series—"Route 66" (8:30-9:30) and "The Twilight Zone" (10-10:30). NBC's Telephone Hour (9:30-10:30) will feature the McGuire sisters, the Kingston Trio and Benny Goodman.

Saturday night's NBC movie (9-11) will be "There's no Business Like Show Business" with Marilyn Monroe, Ethel Merman and Donald O'Connor. On Monday, Gertrude Berg will visit Jackie Cooper's "Hennessey" show (CBS, 10-10:30 p.m.) and Tom Poston will star on NBC's "Thriller" (10-11).

Host Dick Powell will act in a drama of World War II on NBC's "Dick Powell Show" Tuesday night (9-10). ABC's "Close-Up" (10-11) is a study of automation called "The Awesome Servant."

Perry Como's Wednesday night (NBC, 9-10) guest is Shirley Booth. Jane Wyatt and Hans Conried star on Steel Hour's "Little Lost Sheep," a comedy (CBS, 10-11).

Thursday brings along, as usual, Miss Booth as "Hazel" (CBS, 9:30-10) and "Sing Along with Mitch" (NBC, 10-11).

WINTER NIGHT (IE)—Roaring Twenties nightshirts Charleston through dorm and boudoir, keeping gals warm on chill winter nights. They are of wash-wear cotton knit come with matching panties.

Norm Rockwell, Teacher Trade Marriage Vows

STOCKBRIDGE, Mass. (AP) — Norman Rockwell, noted magazine cover artist and illustrator, and Miss Mary L. Punderson, a retired teacher, were married Wednesday in St. Paul's Episcopal Church.

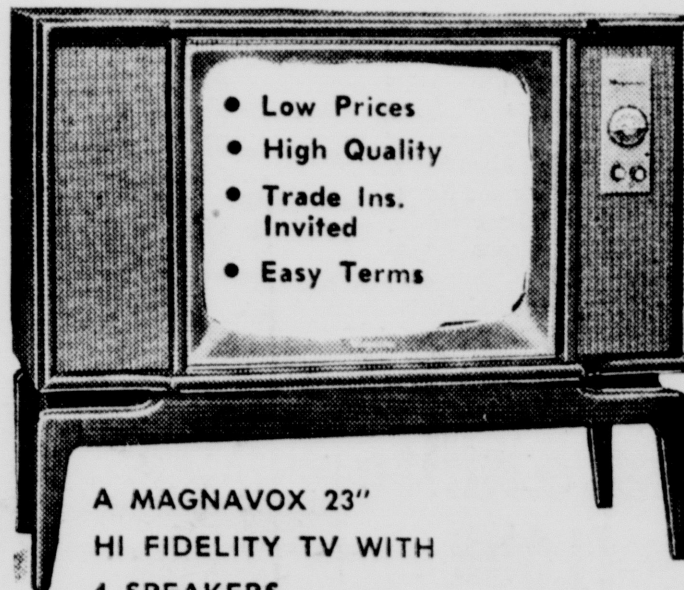

It was the third marriage for Rockwell, 67. His first marriage ended in divorce in 1930. His second wife died two years ago.

The bride, 65, retired in 1959 after teaching English at Milton Academy for 37 years.

Careful Spending Is Urged

So Government May Reduce 1961 Deficit

WASHINGTON (P)—President Kennedy urged his Cabinet and agency heads Thursday to be "careful and frugal" in their spending so the government can reduce this year's deficit and come up with a balanced budget next year.

Ticking off steps he said his administration already has taken to save money, Kennedy added that appropriations by Congress "are a ceiling, not a mandate to spend."

He laid down specific guidelines to be followed to save dollars: Postpone or limit government programs that normally would be desirable; halt any speedup in spending which had been undertaken to combat the recession; and hold down the number of government workers "to the minimum consistent with getting the job done."

"I am especially desirous that new programs or expansions of existing programs be undertaken with caution and deliberation," Kennedy said.

The President enunciated this tight fiscal policy in a statement he presented at a White House meeting of the Cabinet and heads of 13 agencies. The text was made public while the session was in progress.

The statement did not make it clear whether Kennedy meant to cut down the payroll by laying off federal workers. But Pierre Salinger, White House press secretary, said the administration's policy has been to make reductions when it is determined that fewer employees can handle the work of an agency or department.

"There is no question," Kennedy said, "that employment can be held substantially below the levels which would be possible under the funds authorized by Congress. I expect each of you to make such efforts."

During the year that ended last June 30, there was an average of 2,372,455 civilian employees on the government's $13.7-billion payroll.

As he has before, Kennedy said: "It is my intention to propose a balanced budget" for the fiscal year that starts next July 1, "barring extraordinary and unforeseen defense requirements."

Off Limits Stamp On Local Place

The Harris Bar-B-Q, 119 North Broadway, licensed to Mrs. Dorothy Harris, same address, has been placed "Off Limits and Out of Bounds" to military personnel by the Armed Forces Disciplinary Control Board for the Kansas City Area.

This action is a result of a meeting of the board at Whiteman AFB Sept. 28. Pettis County Sheriff Emmett Fairfax and Prosecuting Atty. J. R. Fritz attended the meeting, along with military officials and peace officers in this area.

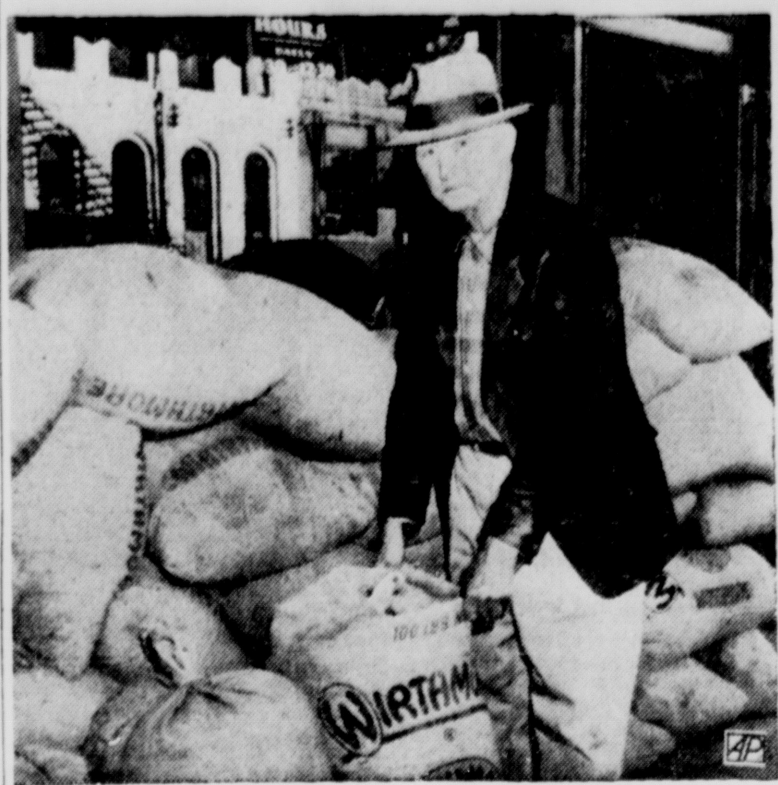

The restriction is effective Oct. 20, and will be in effect for an indefinite period, according to a letter to Mrs. Harris from the command board president, Lt. Commander R. T. Repine, US Naval Air Station, Olathe, Kan. The restriction may be removed by the board at any time providing Mrs. Harris shows that corrective measures satisfactory to the board are taken.

"This action was necessary," Commander Repine's letter said in part, because of prostitution and gambling occurring at your establishment, which adversely affects the health and welfare of service personnel."

Fairfax received a copy of the letter.

Wednesday, Mrs. Harris pleaded guilty to a state charge of possessing gambling equipment, to become the fifth conviction offender. (Please Turn to Page 4 Column 3)

WHEAT FARM REBEL—Farmer Ralph Shinaberry stands by bags of seven-year-old wheat he stacked on the sidewalk in front of the Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation office in Hillsdale, Mich. The government had a lien on his 1954 crop claiming he had a quota of nine acres that year and raised wheat on 28 acres. The farmer's feud was climaxed with the dumping of the 97 1/3 bushels of wheat on the sidewalk. The rest spoiled, he said. (AP Wirephoto).

Surveillance Necessary

Fallout Does Not Warrant Concern

WASHINGTON (P)—Fallout levels from Soviet nuclear explosions thus far do not warrant undue public concern or drastic action, a U.S. Public Health Service statement said Thursday.

However, the statement added that present levels "do warrant continuous, intensive surveillance by federal, state and local governments and consideration of protective measures which might be taken if they should be found necessary."

Selection Of Jurors Still Slow

RUSSELL, Kan. (P)—Objections to capital punishment and fixed opinions on the case again Thursday slowed selection of a jury for the trial of two youths charged with killing a Kansas railroad maintenance foreman.

Only 44 persons have been accepted for jury service since the trial of James Douglas Latham, 18, of Mauriceville, Tex., and George Ronald York, 19, Jacksonville, Fla., began Monday.

They are charged here with killing Otto Ziegler, 62, of Oakley, Kan., June 9.

The two, who earlier escaped from an Army stockade at Ft. Hood, Tex., are also accused of six other slayings from Florida to Colorado in a two-week period last spring. They are on trial here, however, only for the death of Ziegler.

District Judge Benedict P. Cruise questioned some of the veniremen, their views of capital punishment and on their already fixed opinions before excusing them.

Attorneys said unless the jury panel is picked by Friday a Saturday session will probably be necessary. Introduction of evidence is not expected before next week.

Judge Cruise ordered the court clerk to summon 80 new jury prospects Thursday night when the original list of 198 was almost exhausted. Sixty-two were questioned Thursday and only 17 were accepted. Seventy must be qualified. Twelve jurors and two alternates will be selected from among the 70.

Prosecution attorneys, who questioned the prospective jurors first, have been raising the capital punishment and opinion subjects quickly, apparently to save time. Most of those excused have been on motion of the prosecution staff.

York and Latham sat quietly through Thursday's session and listened closely to the questioning of the jury panel.

The Weather

Fair and warmer Friday with gusty southerly winds, highs 65-72; fair and not so cold Friday night, lows 45-53; Saturday increasing cloudiness and mild.

The temperature Thursday was 32 at 7 a.m. and 61 at 1 p.m. Low Wednesday night was 31.

The temperature one year ago today was, high 67, low 46; two years ago, high 64, low 39; three years ago, high 57, low 33.

US Will Ask End to Red Interference

Thompson Is Told To Lodge Official Protest in Moscow

WASHINGTON (P)—The United States will formally ask the Soviet Union Friday to put an immediate end to interference with American officials who visit East Berlin.

Ambassador Llewellyn Thompson received instructions to lodge an official protest in Moscow, State Department spokesman Lincoln White said.

White told a news conference Thompson was instructed "to discuss the unilateral action taken by the Soviet side" in East Berlin where East German Communist police have requested U.S. officials to identify themselves when crossing the line dividing the two parts of the city.

"You can describe it as a protest," White said when asked what the American diplomat will deliver to the Soviet Foreign Ministry.

White said he did not know whether Thompson will hand over a written note or make oral representations. Officials familiar with the envoy's instructions said Thompson will protest most vigorously against a series of incidents at the Friedrichstrasse checkpoint, the only crossing now open for Allied personnel in the city.

Thompson's move will be a diplomatic followup to a protest made Wednesday by Maj. Gen. Albert Watson II, U.S. commander in Berlin, to Col. Andrei I. Solov'yev, his Soviet opposite number. The Soviet officer rejected the protest and insisted the East Germans have a right to control Allied traffic over the borderline.

Officials said Thompson will make these arguments:

1. The United States insists its officials—whether in uniform or wearing civilian clothes—must have unrestricted right to visit East Berlin without being stopped to identify themselves if they ride automobiles bearing special license plates.
2. Continued harassment of Americans in Berlin will hardly create an atmosphere favorable for future talks on the overall question of Berlin and Germany.
3. The Soviet Union should comply with its responsibility in the city by manning the Friedrichstrasse crossing, rather than letting the East Germans do it.

Gen. Taylor Meets With Thai Leader

BANGKOK, Thailand (AP)—Gen. Maxwell D. Taylor conferred for another hour today with Premier Sarit Thanarat, and U.S. Ambassador Kenneth T. Young reported they saw "many things the same way."

Delegates Will Meet

LONDON (P)—Delegates from nine nations—Australia, Belgium, Britain, Denmark, France, West Germany, Holland, Italy and Spain—meet Oct. 30 to found an organization to develop rockets for a European space research program.

BACKED BY TANKS—American tanks stand in reserve at the U. S. checkpoint (white hut) at Friedrichstrasse in Berlin after 3 military police jeeps convoyed an American automobile, barred by the Communists, into East Berlin. The American soldiers defied a Communist ban in a move to underline the American contention that East German police may not control government-licensed automobiles. (NEA Radio-Telephoto).

To Cancel H-Bomb Blast

Consider Approval Of Appeal to Reds

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y. (P)—The General Assembly will consider Friday approval of an appeal to Moscow to cancel a 50-megaton H-bomb test. The appeal won overwhelming endorsement Wednesday night in the assembly.

UAW Gives Chrysler Deadline

DETROIT (P)—Walter P. Reuther has given the Chrysler Corp. until 10 a.m. Friday to submit to the United Auto Workers Union a new economic offer on wages and benefits.

"It has to meet the pattern of the Ford and General Motors settlements," the UAW president declared Thursday.

In making this announcement, during a recess in contract negotiations, Reuther made no mention of strike action.

But the union previously set what amounts to a deadline in showdown bargaining with Chrysler by calling a meeting of its International Executive Board for 8 p.m. Friday. The board will consider authorizing a strike against Chrysler if complete agreement on a new three-year contract is not in sight then.

The UAW's 60,000 members in Chrysler plants already have voted in favor of strike action if necessary to back up their demands.

Reuther said he was insisting on an agreement in principle on the broad economics of wages and benefits by Friday.

Commenting on the union demand, Chrysler's vice president for personnel John D. Leary, said, "We told the union we would take it under advisement."

Reuther said the union would have a technical staff standing by to help speed a final settlement when the company comes up with a new economic offer.

Reuther said there were still some non-economic problems related to working conditions that remain to be settled. He said the union had subcommittees working on them.

$50,000 Gift For Stephens College

COLUMBIA, Mo. (P)—A gift of $50,000 from the Phillipsbury Foundation of St. Louis to the James M. Wood Learning Center at Stephens College was announced Thursday by Dr. Seymour A. Smith, president.

The money will go toward construction of a $2,750,000 center described by Dr. Smith as a facility for making the most effective use of physical space, educational aids, time and talents of the faculty and the capacity of each student for self-motivation and independent study.

The project, to include four new buildings and a renovated structure, is expected to be ready for use in 1963. It will be named in honor of Dr. James M. Wood, president of the independent women's college from 191 to 1947.

Says US Is Responsible For New Threat of War

BERLIN (P)—A Soviet armored unit rolled into East Berlin Thursday night and took up positions a few hundred yards from the border.

Eyewitnesses saw a dozen Soviet tanks with Russian crews line up behind the East German state opera house on Unter den Linden.

It was a blunt reply to the U. S. Army's dramatic armed thrusts this week demonstrating the Allied right to circulate in East Berlin without interference from the East German Communists.

The Soviet armored unit came in only hours after the latest U. S. armed thrust into East Berlin.

Three times American military police squads with fixed bayonets have forced the border into East Berlin. They cleared the way for U. S. occupation civilians who refused to submit to East German controls.

The actions were carried out under the guns of heavy U.S. Patton tanks lined up on the West side of the border.

The East German police stepped aside in each case and allowed the MPs to escort civilians past the border without resistance. Not a shot was fired.

The East German government said the United States alone was responsible for the threat of war created by the escort sorties.

In a note delivered to the American Embassy in Prague, Czechoslovakia, the Red German regime contended that the United States "has no rights in the German Democratic Republic, including its capital (East Berlin)."

The note demanded that the American sorties be stopped at once and those responsible for them be punished. The United States does not recognize the East German government and always ignores such notes. Other American thrusts into East Berlin were believed planned for the next few days.

However, the presence of a Soviet tank unit a few blocks from the Friedrichstrasse crossing would put such sorties in an entirely new light.

West Berlin police said the tanks drove through the center of East Berlin under cover of darkness and that East German police closed off part of Unter den Linden as the tanks moved into position.

The Communist tanks movements followed by a few hours the withdrawal of U.S. tanks and personnel carriers from the checkpoint and a demand from the East German regime that the United States cease its armed entries.

In the note to U. S. officials the East German regime declared that such American action endangered peace.

On-the-Spot Look

BERLIN (P)—The U. S. Army brought 32 sergeants to Berlin for 24-hour on-the-spot look at the situation in this tense city. The idea is that on their return they will tell men of their units in West Germany, Italy and France what they have seen. Further groups will come here each week.

Sedalian Wins Third Place In National Cotton Contest

MEMPHIS (Special)—Mrs. Tom Gray, Jr., 1022 West Seventh, Sedalia, was named third place national winner in the cotton bag sewing contest here Wednesday. She will receive a cash award of $200, household appliances, and merchandise gifts.

Mrs. Gray is the wife of a post office foreman. They have three children. Sewing for her home and family is her special interest and hobby. She has been sewing with cotton bags for approximately 19 years, and says she especially likes the challenge of bag sewing.

"To be able to take what some consider only a 'sack' and fashion an article that is both attractive and useful appeals to my thrifty nature," Mrs. Gray says. She is active in church work and the Parent-Teachers' Association.

Two of Mrs. Gray's eight prize-winning entries were original designs. Judges praised her exhibit for its bold use of color and prints for simple designs. "Her entries were well made and the coordination of planning was excellent," they commented.

More than 500 items made from cotton bags were entered in this year's national finals, representing 41 state and regional fairs. The contest is sponsored by the National Cotton Council in cooperation with the Textile Bag Manufacturers Association.

First place was awarded Mrs. Ocie Williamson of Itasca, Tex., representing the West Texas Fair in Abilene; and second place went to Mrs. Warren Rainwater, Sallisaw, Okla., representing the Tulsa State Fair. The two top winners will receive a week's trip to New York City, household appliances and merchandise gifts.

We Observe National Newspaper Week

Round-the-clock Staff Keeps Our Presses Rolling

By Ralph Jones

THERE ARE SO MANY factors involved that it is difficult to determine just where the makeup of a newspaper begins, but The Sedalia Democrat-Capital feels that the beginning of National Newspaper Week (Oct. 15-21) is a good time to tell its readers something about the paper's operation, and the people who make it possible.

It could be said that the paper begins in the north woods, where the trees for newsprint grow, or in some far corner of the earth where news is being made, or in the office of some firm anywhere in the world wishing to advertise its products or services for sale in this area.

But for all practical purposes the production of your daily newspaper begins right here in Sedalia, then like Topsy, it grows, on an assembly-line basis, timed right down to the minute, until the printed paper is delivered to your home by mail or carrier boy.

The production of The Sedalia Democrat and The Sedalia Capital is a round-the-clock operation, involving some 63 full-time employees, four part-time employees and 94 home delivery boys, or "Little Merchants," to maintain the paper's standing as one of Sedalia's biggest businesses.

The annual payroll totals about $300,000.

Background of 93 Years

The history of the newspaper goes back 93 years. The Sedalia Democrat, published evenings, was established in 1868, the Weekly Sentinel in 1881, and the Sedalia Evening Sentinel in 1895. These two daily papers were merged in 1907, as the Sedalia Democrat-Sentinel.

The Sedalia Capital, the morning newspaper, was established May 2, 1895, and it was combined with The Sedalia Democrat in 1919, under the ownership of Anthony D. Stanley, president; Col. George H. Scruton, Sr., editor, and Walter J. Brill, advertising manager.

Stanley's son, W. Pitkin Stanley, succeeded to the presidency on his father's death. George H. Trader, director since 1907, became president after the death of W. Pitkin Stanley in 1938, and has remained in that position since.

Present owners are: Dear Publications & Radio, Inc., Joseph A. Dear, president; George H. Scruton, Jr., editor; D. Kelly Scruton, sports editor; Harry W. Walch, Anthony Walch, Theodore Walch and Stanley Walch; and Kenneth U. Love, business manager.

The Democrat-Capital is a member of the Associated Press, a world-wide news service, which provides news matter by teletype and mail service.

In addition, the paper is a member of the Newspaper Enterprise Association, the American Newspaper Publishers Association, the Inland Daily Press, the Audit Bureau of Circulations and the Missouri Press Association. It is an affiliate member of the National Editorial Association.

Production Departments

Production of the newspaper involves several departments, each working separately but in conjunction with each other. The departments, each directly involved in the production and distribution of the paper, are the editorial, composing room, advertising, business office, press room, custodial, mailing and circulation staffs. The editorial, composing room, press room staffs are made up of "daytime" and "nighttime" crews. The circulation department distributes both the morning and evening newspapers.

Actually, the production of your daily paper begins at 7 a.m., but a considerable amount of planning was carried out the previous day, or more correctly, in previous days. Several weeks of planning go into the production of special editions.

The advertising staff by necessity must work ahead of the daily paper. Sometimes advertisements are sold weeks ahead of time, and the amount of advertising space sold usually determines the size of the newspaper. Normally this size is determined on a 60-40 basis — 60 per cent advertising and 40 per cent news and feature material.

Each day, in the afternoon, the advertising department prepares the advertising layout for the following day's Democrat, and sends this layout to the news and composing departments.

At 7 a.m. Monday through Saturday the news department and composing room staff arrives for work. The compositors take the layout received from the advertising department and assemble the advertisements in their scheduled place in each page.

While this assembly is going on, the newsroom staff is studying a copy of the layout for the day, and determining the amount of news space available. The news editor selects the stories, pictures, and features to be used that day. This department is under supervision of the editor. Included among the personnel are the editor, day news editor, society editor, three daytime reporters, night news editor, two night time reporters, and a proof reader for daytime. Night reporters handle proof reading during their shift.

Where News Comes From
News arrives in the newsroom in various ways. Two AP teletype machines run day and night, except for a few hours on Sunday, furnishing the bulk of world, national and area news. Identical stories printed on the teletype are punched on tape in the composing room, and these tapes are

Upside Down House Termed Ideal By Woman Designer

By VIVIAN BROWN
AP Newfeatures Writer

If the average woman designed a dream house what would it look like?

It's a fair guess that she might dream along the lines of a house at Franklin Lakes, N. J., just planned by architect Clothiel Woodward Smith of Washington, D.C.

Mrs. Smith denies that she has designed the almost-perfect house because she is a woman.

"There's no reason to think women architects are any smarter than men when it comes to planning a house that pleases a woman," she says modestly. "Or vice versa."

But it takes a woman to think of the romance of a balcony, and to plan one for every member of the family: to give each occupant a private entrance; to put the boy's room next to the laundry where he can dump his salamanders, insects and fossils, to give a teen-age girl a little garden with a fountain pool.

"It's a house where everyone can live as an individual and not step on another's toes," she says, "and when the children go off to college the lower half of the house may be closed off to ease maintenance costs and the parents can use their own floor. People don't want to move away from a house they love, just because they are left alone with it."

Unusual Arrangement
"The house is an upside down house," she explains. Living room, master bedroom, dining room and kitchen are upstairs. The children live below.

"There is an arrangement so that groceries can be taken out of the car and put directly into the kitchen; an enormous closet 'warehouse' for cumbersome storage and paraphernalia." The architect adds, "The house is functional although that's a nasty word in these traditionally minded times."

The house was planned for an imaginary family of five — a college boy who brings his friends home to the guest room at vacation time, a 16-year-old high school girl and a 12-year-old boy who lives in what she calls a "1922 verticle rambler," raises hamsters, designs bird houses and builds model cars. The house plan would not be good if the children were younger, Mrs. Smith points out.

There are no conventional windows. Window walls are of insulated glass.

The living and dining room become one for a large party by removing a divider of transparent cane screens.

A vacuum cleaning system sucks dirt through wall outlets to a central disposal in the garage.

The roof of Terne metal—an alloy of lead and tin on sheet steel—is maintenance free.

A motor-powered dummerwater connects the kitchen to the lower level where children, family-guest room and laundry room are located. Guest room beds fold away into double door closets in the walls.

A compact kitchen in the family-guest room serves for snacks on the lower level. Refrigerator, counter top burners, sink and preparation surfaces are in a small unit.

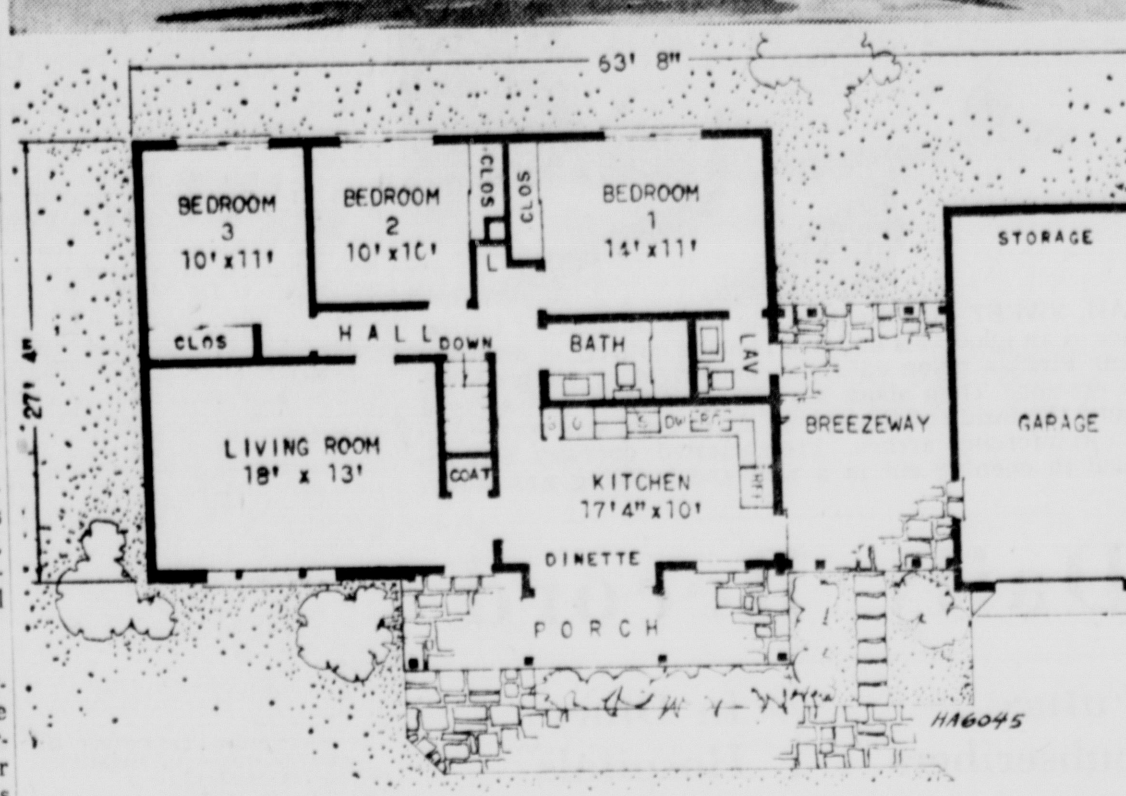

For Outdoor Entertaining
An 18-foot polished terrazzo circle off the lower level of the house is for outdoor dancing. The garden and patio are landscaped for minimum maintenance. Plants are chosen for year round beauty, slow growth and long life. A tool shed is part of the garage structure.

"The major role of the architect should be to translate space for the home planner. The most frequent walls from new owners are 'I didn't know it would be that small,' or 'I didn't realize it would be so big,'" Mrs. Smith says.

She had no difficulty coping with the imaginary problems presented to her by House and Garden Magazine, for whom she designed the home, its 1962 House of Ideas. She has a boy 14, a girl 9, an airdale, turtles and fish.

The Smiths live in a five-story house in downtown Washington. "Shoemakers children never have shoes," Mrs. Smith laughingly points out in explaining why one with a love for contemporary houses and functional existence

ON THE HOUSE
By ANDY LANG

By ANDY LANG
AP Newfeatures

A high percentage of the nearly 4 million deaths and disabling injuries in American homes each year can be traced to carelessness while indulging in hobbies around the house.

Most of these accidents occur in and around the workshop and the garden. Two places which ordinarily contribute so much to enjoyment of leisure. In order to help cut the toll from hobobbies, Dr. John Henderson has issued a safety check list in connection with "Emergencies Don't Wait Week" (Oct. 8-15). Here are his suggestions:

MAKE CERTAIN there is plenty of room for equipment, tools, and the hobbyist. Cramped quarters lead to accidents.

KEEP WORKSHOPS free of clutter at all times. Floors, particularly, should be cleared of scrap, oil, shavings and any obstacles that could cause tripping or uncertain footing, or fire.

KEEP ALL TOOLS in a specific, planned, easily identified place when not in use, and replace them after use.

DISCONNECT all power tools when not in use and padlock them if possible. Workshops with power tools should be definitely out of bounds to children unless an adult is on hand to supervise. LOCATE power outlets conveniently to the user — but out of the easy reach of children.

PAINTS, ACIDS and other inflammables should be locked safely away in clean, dry cupboards when not in use, and should be non-accessible to children.

ANY LOOSE CLOTHING—particularly neckties, flowing or loose sleeves and cuffs, should be removed or rolled up before workshop tools are used. Clothing caught in power tools can cause fatal accidents.

GOGGLES should always be used when there is danger of flying splinters or metal shavings.

NEVER REACH toward cutting edges of any tool until power has been turned off and the machine stopped. Don't stand in front of a power saw when cutting.

READ all directions — and follow them. Never try to experiment by using tools for jobs which they were not designed to do.

VARY TASKS to avoid fatigue. Monotony leads to carelessness—the prime cause of accidents.

TAKE ADVANTAGE of every built-in safeguard which comes with your equipment — and add more if necessary.

BE CERTAIN to have immediately available — in the workshop itself — a first-aid emergency kit.

GARDEN TOOLS, no less than workshop tools, should have a specific place for storage when not in use, and should always be returned to that place after use.

ALL POWER TOOLS — such as mowers — have safe operating instructions attached. These should be read and not deviated from. In particular, children and pets should be kept safely out of the area where power mowers are being used.

ALL INSECTICIDES, fertilizers and the like should be locked in storage compartments when not in use — and guarded when in use. Poisons should be plainly labeled with written or printed instructions listing specific anti-the composing room, it is turned over to the stereotype and press room staff. At this point the humidifier is placed over the assembled page, and the page and cardboard placed under tons of pressure to create a mat, which will be used to form the page into a cylinder and then put on the press.

In effect the day's work of the advertising department, the news staff and the composing room now becomes an impression on a piece of cardboard, and the compositors may begin disassembling the page of metal type.

This cardboard is taken to the casting box and type metal is pumped into the box. After casting, the cylinder is removed from the box, trimmed and routed to prevent smudges or overprinting on the finished page, and placed on the press. This process is repeated several times until the last page of the paper is completed.

Normally page one and the page with obituaries, hospital and police notes, etc., are the last to arrive in the press room. These pages are held up to allow coverage for late-breaking news stories.

20,000 Papers An Hour Capacity

The press has a capacity of 16 pages at one time and will print up to 20,000 papers an hour. More than 500 tons of newsprint and 12,000 pounds of ink are used annually. In papers of more than 16 pages, the various sections must be run separately, and assembled later.

After printing, the paper is placed in the hands of the circulation department. Many methods are used to get the paper to the customer. In Sedalia there are 64 boys who deliver the paper to regular subscribers, and five boys who sell papers on the street. There are 30 boys delivering the paper from door to door in 30 Mid-Missouri cities. Several thousand papers are processed in the mail room day and night for delivery to the post office and later by mail carrier to rural route subscribers in Central Missouri, and mail subscribers in most of the states and some foreign countries.

In order to get the papers to the delivery boys, the circulation department uses one laundry-type first cold snap to get his home in shape for winter. He knows that minor repairs made now will avoid the need for major repairs later.

Getting ready doesn't end with the obvious job of putting up storm windows. Check the windows themselves. Is putty old and cracked? If it is, you've located the source of future drafts. Chip out the old putty and re-putty the windows.

Check Around
Check around the window frame and around the door as well. If the old caulking has dried out and has begun to pull away, scrape it out and recaulk.

While you have the caulking gun out, check other points that might need caulking. These include joints between porch and house, steps and house, siding and foundation and any other openings where air and moisture can get in.

Renail or Replace

Examine siding for loose boards. Renail or replace. If you have masonry walls, replace loose mortar and fill cracks. Wet down thoroughly after cleaning out loose material and fill with fresh material. Use ready-mix patching materials, to which you just add water for small jobs.

Check foundations and fill cracks. A clear masonry sealer will keep out moisture.

Pick a fairly calm day to check roof and gutters.

Shingles Sealed

Loose shingles should be sealed with cement or nailed down or both. Bulges in roll roofing should be slit and sealed with roofing cement.

Check for roof leaks by looking for stains on ceiling and walls indoors. Flashing around chimney and in roof valleys should be painted if you find bare spots.

Be liberal in the use of asphalt paint on flashing and around chimney. Cover nail heads with it to prevent rusting wherever you have done any rearing.

Last Leaf

Clean out gutters and continue cleaning until the last leaves are off the trees. Repair wherever necessary with asphalt-impregnated patches of canvas, glass fiber or metal. Make certain that gutters are secure or they will not

Altrusa Dinner Plans Completed

Plans are completed for the Altrusa Club dinner to be held Monday, October 16 at the First Methodist Church at 6:30 p. m.

Mr. Charles Nutter, world traveler now associated with the Hallmark Foundation, Kansas City will be guest speaker. Cut off the water supply to outdoor faucets. Drain these and outdoor sprinkler systems. Calk around the pipe where it comes through the wall.

Repair Cracks

Repair cracks in driveway and sidewalks. Chip out and remove loose material. Wet and fill with patching material. If you have a blacktop drive you will find ready-mix patching material for it in most hardware stores.

Pint-size Sliding Panels Add Function

Kitchen cabinets — or, for that matter, almost any cabinet with swinging doors, can be much more functional if space saving sliding doors replace swinging panels. It's easy to do yourself. Often the very same swing-in cabinet doors can be used. Pint-sized Bantam hardware does this job admirably. Jim Gillie Speaker At Bosses Night

Jim Gillie, a representative of the Phillips Oil Co., was guest speaker at the annual Jaycees Bosses Night dinner Thursday at the Old Missouri Homestead.

Born in the Congo, and a former resident of Indonesia, Gillie was an interpreter at the war crimes trials in Japan after the World War II.

His talk centered around the need for people to understand and get along with each other. With a witty, humorous line about his life on a farm in Arkansas after the family left New York, Gillie literally kept the audience in "stitches" throughout his talk.

Jaycees and their bosses in attendance included: President Alan Hawkins, Alvin Heynen; first vice president William D. Hill, George H. Scruton, Jr.; Jack Delph, T. J. Norris; John Hays, P. A. Sillers; Bob Schultz, P. O. Hunnell; Bill Dennis, George Sutherland; Dick Smith, Robert Lyle; George Menschke, Joseph E. Walter; J. D. Walker, Dr. J. C. Charley Edwards, program chairman, who secured Gillie as speaker, was called out of town unexpectedly and was unable to attend. Jack Allega acted as program chairman. Bob Heins gave invocation.

Several self-employed Jaycees were in attendance.

Forum's Annual Forecast

Building Industry to Boom To $60-Billion Record In '62

America's builders will have their best year ever in 1962, according to Architectural Forum's annual forecast, just released. The total likely to be spent on construction of various kinds will top $60 billion for the first time in history, says the professional magazine of building. This will be 7.1 per cent better than the present very good year.

Builders of motels, hotels, and dormitories will probably increase their activity the most — by 25.9 per cent. Apartment construction will also rise — by 16.4 per cent. Even construction of one and two family homes, which was down this year, will increase by about 2.5 percent.

Costs To Go Up Again

Construction costs have remained fairly steady this year. (They will probably show a rise of about 1.5 per cent for the year 1961.) But they are likely to increase by about 3 per cent in 1962. Thus, the forecast 7.1 per cent increase in total building construction dollar volume will actually amount to a 4 per cent increase in physical volume.

The projection of Architectural Forum's forecast were supplied by the well known Washington construction economist Miles L. Colean, who serves as consulting editor to the magazine.

What's Up, What's Down

The Architectural Forum forecast for each construction category follows:

House construction (one and two-family non-farm dwellings) in 1962 will increase to about 1,100,000 units worth $17.13 billion.

Apartment construction will rise to $5.18 billion worth.

Hotel, motel, and dormitory construction will go up to $1.99 billion.

Office and warehouse building may decrease 4.2 per cent to $2.3 billion.

Store, restaurant, and garage construction is likely to stay at about $2.25 billion through 1962.

Religious building may be up 2 per cent to total an even $1 billion in 1962.

Social and recreational construction may gain about 0.6 per cent to reach a $795-million annual volume.

Educational building will gain about 6.8 per cent for a total of $3.9 billion.

Hospital and institutional building will likewise gain 6.8 per cent, rising to $1.25 billion.

"Other" building (from air terminals to zoos) will be up 4.3 per cent to $2.17 billion.

Court house, post office, etc., construction will increase 11.1 per cent to $750 million.

Other construction (all farm building, plus all non-building construction like dams, highways, etc.) will increase 4.1 per cent in 1962 to a total of $17.94 billion.

Hymn Of The Month Is Selected

"For All the Saints," is the Hymn of the Month chosen by Mrs. Robert M. Fisher, National Chairman of Sacred Music for the National Federation of Music Clubs of which the Helen G. Steele Music Club is a member, for the month of October.

This is one of England's favorite hymns. It is sung often in America and is found in every important hymn collection. Originally it had 11 stanzas.

The author, William Walsham How, D. D., (1823-1871) served as rector, dean and canon to the Established Church of England. He sincerely loved the humblest people and is remembered for his work on behalf of the poor in London. Because of his great ability as a hymn writer and his deep interest in hymns, modern hymnology owes much to him.

The tune, Sine Nomine, written for this hymn by Ralph Vaughan Williams, is considered to be one of the finest hymn tunes written in this century.

Ralph Vaughan Williams (1872-1958) was one of the most distinguished British composers of our day. He spent a number of years in collecting and studying English folk songs and was mainly responsible for the use of folk songs in modern hymnody. Mr. Williams visited the United States three times. In 1954 he returned as a visiting professor at Cornell University and conducted performances of his symphonic works. He was musical editor of the "English Hymnal," 1906, with Martin Shaw of the "Oxford Book of Carols," 1928, and "Songs of Praise," 1925.

Did you know that large expanses of window walls may be increasing upkeep due to loss of heat in the winter?

This can be avoided and the solution is easy. Draperies should be installed on these windows because they amply insulate against heat loss in the winter, hide the reflecting glass surface at night and add a decorative touch as well. A sixteen page booklet on drapery hardware and its uses is available from The Space Saving Institute, 18 East 60th Street, New York 22, N. Y.

Mishaps Can Come to Kids On Halloween

CHICAGO (AP)—Those terrifying ghosts and goblins that turn out en masse on Halloween fall victims to the same harms that plague ordinary mortals.

Automobiles can hit them as they take off on their broomsticks. Their shrouds can catch fire. And the ghastly faces that scare others can strangle them.

These secrets of the nether world were let out today by the National Safety Council, an organization dedicated to, among other things, saving the spook population for future Halloweens.

Next Tuesday is Halloween. Some goblins hide their real faces behind masks of cloth, rubber or paper. Some of the eye slits are too small for good vision or the mask may slip and cover the eyes entirely. When a goblin is running from a house with a sackful of treats, he may have mask trouble and not see an oncoming automobile.

And if the goblin is wearing dark regalia, such as favored by the Dracula mob, the motorists may be unable to see him in time.

Spook suits, regardless of color, have been known to catch fire from candle-illuminated jack-o-lanterns.

The council suggested these tips:

Faces can be made mighty scary with rouge, eyebrow pencil and multicolored mascara. Cold cream takes it off when spooking time is over.

Dark costumes can be trimmed with adhesive reflector tape. They can be made flameproof by dipping in a solution of 4 ounces of boric acid, 9 ounces of borax and a gallon of warm water. Washing or dry-cleaning, however, will take out the protection.

Flashlights instead of candles will fireproof pumpkins.

And goblins should do their tormenting in groups of four to five and beg treats only at homes where they know the occupants.

FOAM, SWEET FOAM—Its white walls suggesting the interior of an igloo, this building is made entirely of urethane foam. First, a nylon envelope, held rigid by air pressure, was erected. Then about six inches of foam was sprayed against the inside of the nylon. Extra foam was sprayed to form reinforcing arches. Prefabricated doorway was installed in opening cut in a wall and building was ready.
